NAVAL FIGHT IN CHANNEL

Britain Fulfills Promise

The first photo to reach here showing the landing of British troops in Greece is this . . . the smiling Tommies filing down the ladder of a transport, disembarking somewhere on the Greek coast. The arrival of these men fulfilled Britain's promise that she would send all possible aid to help rout the Italian invaders. Today, however, as Greek successes continued, it was doubted that these men were really needed.

BRITISH ROUT 2 AXIS FLEETS

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Out of blazing naval warfare in the Mediterranean and a clash of light forces in the English channel Britain drew claims today of having clinched control of the sea Italians call "ours" and a rout of German warships.

Italy and Germany, presenting contradictory versions, have asserted that the British were heavy losers in the Mediterranean and channel actions.

Rome insists that only an Italian destroyer was hit in the recent battle of Sardinia while a British battleship, three cruisers and an aircraft carrier were damaged.

The Germans declare that, far from being routed, their channel forces torpedoed two British destroyers while two steamers of 9000 and 3000 tons and two smaller vessels also were sunk.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

Reports filtering through the London admiralty—traditionally "the silent service"—indicated that a broad offensive intended to sweep the Mediterranean clear of Italian naval forces and strike at Italy as the "Achilles Heel" of the Axis-controlled continent is under way.

This naval warfare, with accent on aerial operations wherein torpedo-planes are matched against the largest battleships, appeared to be the initiative Britain is striving for to counter Germany's siege of Britain by air and sea.

It is being waged in apparent co-ordination with the RAF's continuing land operations against the industries and communications of the Axis powers.

Virginio Gayda, Mussolini's mouthpiece, wrote in the Giornale d'Italia today that Italy and not Great Britain is taking the offensive in the Mediterranean naval war.

"Initiative in the naval war is consistently and exclusive Italian," he said. "Two Italian battleships, six cruisers and three squadrons of destroyers participated in yesterday's battle."—Editor's note.

BRITISH LIST VICTORIES

But this is what the British say their sea forces, with the great help of the fleet air arm, have accomplished this week:

Damaged six Italian warships Wednesday afternoon off the Italian island of Sardinia—torpedo-plane hits on a 35,000-ton battleship of the new Littorio class and a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Bolzano class; dive-bombing of another cruiser; firing of still another and gunfire damage to two destroyers.

Routed German "light forces" early today in the English Chan-

Liverpool Bombed; British Deny City Seriously Damaged

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 29—Evidently bent on reconnaissance work, lone German warplanes caused three new air raid alarms in London today after Nazi night raiders pounded the important northwestern English port of Liverpool in one of the heaviest attacks of the war.

This afternoon German planes again were reported over Liverpool, and it was believed they were attempting to assess and possibly photograph the damage done last night. Numerous fires were started and large numbers of houses and other buildings were damaged dring the long night attack.

Hundreds of persons were left homeless by the Liverpool bombing, the most severe Nazi night air raids the Merseyside has suffered since the war began. The crashing German bombs mainly pounded residential and store properties.

Authorities made no attempt to belittle the extent of the damage, but they scoffed at German claims that the city was a "blazing inferno." Liverpool "certainly was not 'conventrized' by the raid," they declared.

HOMES DEMOLISHED

But officials claimed that the casualties—some of which were fatal—were amazingly slight" in view of the magnitude and length of the raid, and the allegedly indiscriminate nature of the bombing.

Relays of planes which totalled in the hundreds carried out the long night assault. Behind them they left a grim spectacle—homes completely demolished in both poor and prosperous residential districts.

But authorities said that precautions for arranging temporary accommodations worked so effectively that a majority of the homeless were established in new quarters even while the raid was still in progress.

It was estimated the Germans used between 200 and 300 bombers during the night on various parts of the British Isles.

USE HEAVY BOMBERS

Most of them proceeded to the Merseyside area, which involved a

RAF HELPS GREEKS BLAST ITALIAN BASES AND SHIPS

ATHENS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Fierce bombardment of Italy's sea gateways into Albania and a rout of Italian destroyers bombarding the new British defended Greek island of Corfu were reported today by the British Royal Air Force.

"Bomber aircraft carried out raids on Santi Quaranta (Porto Edda) where destroyers bombarding the island of Corfu fled on approach of our formations, Durazzo and Elbassan (Elbasani)," said a communique apparently covering action yesterday and last night.

The Italian high command, reporting bombardment of several objectives on Corfu, just off the junction of Albanian and Greek frontiers in the Ionian sea and southwest of Porto Edda, declared reaction to the "prolonged bombardment" was disorganized and ineffective.—Editor's note.

Shipping at Porto Edda was attacked and "bombs were seen to explode on wharves," said the RAF communique.

At Durazzo, another Albanian port, and Elbasani, an inland base, "all the bombs fell in the target area, but the results were not observed due to weather conditions."

Two of the British planes "failed to return to their bases."

Ten Italian planes in all were said to have been downed in the last two days, including seven out of 20 fighters surprised by an RAF fighter formation over southwestern Albania yesterday.

With the "choicest regiment" of the Italian army reported vanquished in a bitter fight on the southern front, Greeks asserted their forces were pressing deeper

All-Star Radio Show to Benefit Yule Ship Drive

By JAMES DOOLING

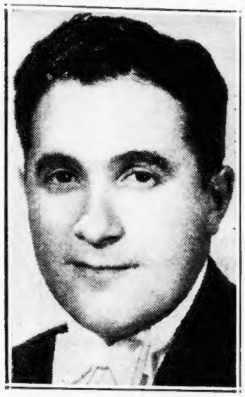
A brilliant all-star radio hour, arranged through the courtesy of Columbia Broadcasting System and station officials, will be broadcast over Station WEEI on Sunday afternoon for the benefit of a CHRISTMAS SHIP FOR ENGLAND.

Famed artists have volunteered their time and talents to further the Boston American-Record-Sunday Advertiser appeal throughout New England for donations of warm winter clothing for the bombed and homeless civilians abroad.

Meanwhile, 25 members of Newspaper Chauffeurs, Distributors and Helpers Local 259 started out today in trucks provided by the Hearst newspapers to collect parcels of shoes and clothing left by kind-hearted persons in the various collection centers in this section.

All of these 25 men also volunteered for this work and are giving their time and labor free to aid the Christmas Ship campaign.

The all-star broadcast, from 2 to 3 p. m. is being made possible through the good will of first-flight stars of the theater, radio and variety, and by the generosity of Harold E. Fellowes, general manager in New England for CBS, and Lloyd G. Del Castillo, program director for Station WEEI.



RUBY NEWMAN
Flies Here for Show

Ruby Newman is making a special flight from New York to Boston to conduct the famous 20-piece society broadcasting orchestra which bears his name. Sammy Eisen, his Boston director, made this arrangement.

Lieut.-Gov. Horace T. Cahill, acting chief executive in the absence of Gov. Saltonstall, will represent the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on the program, and a message from Christmas Ship headquarters will be delivered by Edward J. Rhatigan, business manager for the Hearst papers and executive chairman of Christmas Ship committees.

Bill Robinson and Phil Baker, from "All in Fun," currently at the Shubert, will be there; delightful Sheila Barrett, from the Versailles; Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern, from "Life With Father," the five-star hit at the Repertory, and Pert Kelton, nationally famed mimic.

BAND LEADERS JOIN

Among Boston orchestra leaders who will stage a special instrumental session for the broadcast are: Mayfair's Ranny Weeks, Steuben's Lew Conrad; Mickey Alpert, from Cocoanut Grove, Vaughn Munroe, and Socarras and his "Magic Flute," from Beachcombers.

Tommy Currier and Max Zeides radio's "Hum and Strum," have volunteered, as well as Bill Elliott, popular broadcasting baritone.

Newcomb F. Thompson, radio editor of the Hearst papers, will supervise the production and will act as master of ceremonies, assisted by the other members of the Christmas Ship radio committee: Peggy Doyle, George Holland, George Clarke, Leo Gaffney and Edward F. Harkins.

Today, with the feast of Thanksgiving only a memory, workers for the Christmas Ship for England buckled down to the tremendous

POLICE HUNT HARVARD BOY; OHIO FATHER AIDS SEARCH

A Harvard sophomore, described as a brilliant student studying on a national scholarship, has been missing since Monday, it was revealed today.

The disappearance of the young man, William K. Cowser of 96121 Clifton blvd., Cleveland, O., and of C-56, Adams House, Harvard, was reported to Cambridge police by his father.

W. K. Cowser

The elder Cowser, member of a well-to-do Cleveland family, said he had come to Cambridge when he had failed to receive an answer to two letters he had written to his son recently.

Arriving at Adams House, he was admitted to the boy's room and there found the letters, unopened, with most of young Cowser's clothing, a wrist watch, and a diamond ring.

FEARS MENTAL LAPSE

College authorities said the boy had not attended classes since Monday.

Mr. Cowser said his son was a hard-working student, standing high in his grades, and that he feared the boy might have suffered some lapse from overwork.

He said his son was an amateur collector of old and rare books with an excellent judgment of their value, and might try to find work in that line.

Other students in the same entry at Adams House said young Cowser was quiet and studious.

POLICE CALLED IN

The father carried on a search for some time himself before he called in police. He is living in the boy's room.

Cowser is described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, rather tall and thin, with black hair and a high, pale forehead, dressed in gray herringbone trousers and coat. He wore a black seal ring on one of his fingers.

He has a mole on one hand and another mole on his wrist, and a second degree burn scar on one forearm.

Cambridge police sent out a nationwide teletype alarm for the boy.

The father, an official of a Cleveland industrial firm, told reporters he had received reports that his son had been seen about Cambridge since Monday. He said the youth's mother is in a state of collapse at her Cleveland home.

NURSE NOW—Completing the required 50 hours of hospital experience, the Duchess of Kent today became a member of the Civil Nursing Reserve. As "Sister Kay" she trained in a London hospital, making beds, washing dishes and taking her turn at the casualty clearing station.

More Snow, Continued Cold Due for Shivering Bostonians

More snow and renewed cold was predicted for shivering Boston today as sub-zero temperatures were recorded in several sections of the Metropolitan area.

Coldest weather of the season was officially reported in Boston and generally throughout New England. The Boston low was 17, four degrees chillier than the previous low of 21, Nov. 26, the day before the storm that gave Massachusetts its first white Thanksgiving in years.

Arlington got off comparatively easy with a 5-above minimum.

Below zero temperatures were general in northern New England, with four below at White River, Vt., lowest official reading.

Increasing cloudiness and occasional light snow later today were predicted for Greater Boston and eastern Massachusetts.

Also predicted was a slight temporary rise in temperature, to be followed by clearing weather and renewed cold Saturday.

PREPARE FOR MORE SNOW

Apprehension over expected clouding skies, city and state highway officials ordered snow-clearing crews to continue plowing in case tonight's snowfall should be heavier than expected.

The deaths of two men were blamed on the cold. In Middleboro, Myles Standish, 62, direct lineal descendant of the Pilgrim captain, died of a heart attack after he had helped several motorists involved in slight accidents near his gasoline station.

The body of Roscoe C. Blakesley, 38, apparently an exposure victim, was found by hunters beside his stalled auto in Granville.

At City Hospital, fears were expressed for John Quinlan, 10, of Dresser st., South Boston, critically injured in the season's first severe coasting accident. The child suffered a ruptured liver when his sled collided with another.

Thomas Brailey, four-year-old Worcester coaster, was seriously hurt by a hit-run auto.

POLICE CAR IN CRASH

Worst of the accidents took place on the Worcester turnpike in Wellesley, where a state police cruiser and an auto driven by Arthur E. King, 18, of Auburndale, were in head-on collision. The injured troopers were John J. Riley, 27, of Cambridge, and Theodore W. Peters, 29, of Brimfield.

Riding with King, who police charged with being on the left of the road, were John Burns, 21, of Day st., West Newton, and Robert Lyons, 23, Waltham st., West Newton.

Police received numerous reports of skidding accidents and autos sliding into snowdrifts. Though cleared, even the main state highways lacked sand except at a few curves.

During the coldest hour of the morning, a two-alarm fire swept the J. A. Club cafe at Egleston sq. today. Flames of undetermined origin broke out in the rear of the restaurant and burned up through the two-and-one-half stories to flare from the roof. Damage was set at $3500 by Deputy Chief Daniel J. Martell.

In Yarmouth, Me., Coast Guards searched today for Emil Hemil, Lewiston duck hunter who disappeared in a small skiff in Casco Bay.

HITLER SET TO TAKE OVER STRIFE-TORN RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Nov. 29 (INS)—In a move indicating eventual German control of strife-torn Rumania, Count Baldur von Schirach, military governor of Vienna and close confidant of Adolf Hitler, arrived here this afternoon.

His arrival coincided with imposition of martial law equivalent to complete military dictatorship as Premier Ion Antonescu struggled to stave off Iron Guard uprisings against his regime and prevent further executions which may already have claimed as many as 200 lives.

The London Evening Standard reported from Bucharest that Queen Mother Helen had fled to Florence, Italy, for her safety. King Michael, who considers himself a prisoner, is expected to follow her shortly, the paper said. —Editor's note.

All of Rumania was nothing less than an armed camp, with Rumanian and German troops everywhere and all public buildings in military hands as Von Schirach, formerly head of the Hitler youth movement, reached Bucharest with his staff.

GUARD LEADER WARNED

The ostensible reason for his visit was to attend the funeral tomorrow of Corneliu Codreanu, Iron Guard "martyr," whose assassination two years ago was finally "avenged" when the Iron Guard struck out at its enemies, stripping Rumania of some of its most famous names.

Reliable information indicated, however, that Von Schirach had been ordered here by Hitler to put an end to present anarchous conditions and stave off outright civil war toward which the country seemed to be drifting.

Von Schirach, it is understood, will attempt to aid Antonescu in setting up a military dictatorship excluding the Iron Guard. At the same time, he has been charged with the task of warning Horia Sima, vice-premier and Iron Guard leader, that German military authorities will take drastic measures unless the Iron Guard immediately demobilize its armed bands.

Queen Mother Helen

King Michael

TENSION HIGH

Meanwhile, the bodies of 28 additional murdered persons were found by police in various parts of Bucharest. The bodies were so disfigured that identification was impossible.

Apparently acting as a result of Von Schirach's arrival, Sima called a meeting of the Plosti group of Iron Guardists and urged them to cease violence in accordance with his personal pledge to Antonescu.

Tension continued high, however, a report filtered in telling of new slayings at Ploesti and elsewhere, with police agents and politically prominent Jews among the victims as well as openly avowed anti-Iron Guardists.

Antonescu was faced with a difficult task in restoring order because of the fact large masses of the population support the Iron Guards' campaign of vengeance.

Menwhile, the Bucharest law court began revision of the legal papers of Codreanu's case in an effort to prove he was convicted of murder without justification.

200 CANADIANS STRIKE

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 29 (AP)—Two hundred men walked off the job at the Kingston Ship Building Co. yard, tying up operations at the plant.

Britain Using Mystery Ray

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Daily Mail reported today the possibility a new "mystery weapon" is being tried out against German night bombers. It said London observers noted a peculiar horizontal beam of light flashing in the sky during barrage operations.

Sometimes the beam was seen at 10,000 feet, and again at 20,000 feet, cutting across the rays of the customary searchlights.

It seemed to be narrower than a searchlight ray and was a sort of bluish-white ribbon which disappeared for periods and then flashed half a dozen times a minute.

WOMAN DIES IN NEW BEDFORD ATTACK MYSTERY

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 29—Found face down on the sidewalk, her body covered with bruises, Mrs. Bertha Howard, 55, died under mysterious circumstances here today half an hour after she had been taken to Union Hospital.

Dr. William Rosen, medical examiner, refused to make any decision as to cause of death until he had conducted an autopsy.

The woman was found in Perkins st., near Deane. She was unconscious. Patrolmen Joseph Hutchinson and Ernest Legue hurried her to Union Hospital, but she never regained consciousness.

Two hours after her death, she was identified by Philip St. Clair of Austin st. He said she had once done housework for his family.

LAWRENCE, Nov 29 (AP)—Angelo Masi, 36, died today from injuries suffered when he fell 12 feet to the ground while trying to climb in a window of his home after having lost his door key.

Girl Felled, Robbed Of West End Payroll

A 27-year-old girl secretary in a West End electrical company office was struck, knocked to the street, and robbed of a $175 payroll by two youths today.

The assault occurred in Stanford st., West End, in the full view of half a dozen passersby, but the robbers escaped.

Miss Marcia Freeman of Franklin Gardens, Roxbury, employed by the Freed-Malins Electric Co., Stanford st., said she was on her way to the office from the bank when two youths about 18 jumped at her.

One struck her face, knocking her to the street, the other put his hand over her mouth, then the first snatched the small envelope that contained the money.

Witnesses showed police where one youth had run into a doorway, but after a short chase over several roofs, he escaped.

Miss Freeman said an attempt had been made last summer to rob her of a payroll but that she had not reported the incident.

F.D. Spurs Ship, Plane Output

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt said today he did not believe it would be necessary to impose priority regulations in order to restrict manufacture of commercial planes.

He indicated the matter of building military planes and commercial planes was being worked out amicably.

In general, Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference he was satisfied with the progress of the national defense program. But he qualified this by noting that should specific questions be asked he might find fault in specific fields.

Overall progress, however, he said, is satisfactory.

At yesterday's meeting of the national defense council, the President asked William S. Knudsen, production chief, to undertake the speeding up of machine tool bottlenecks and the construction of destroyers.

The speedup of destroyer construction, Mr. Roosevelt said, has no relation to any possible transfer of additional ships to Great Britain. He said the present schedule was simply too slow.

WALLY TO SEE U.S. DENTIST

(Copyright, 1940, by International News Service)

NASSAU, Nov. 29—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are planning to go to Miami around Dec. 10 so that the Duchess may undergo a major dental operation, it was officially stated today.

The visit will be "strictly private" in nature and the Duke and Duchess will return to Nassau as soon as she has recovered sufficiently from the operation, necessitated by an abscessed tooth from which the American-born duchess has been suffering ever since their arrival in the Bahamas several months ago.

After consultation with local

medical experts, the duchess was advised to go to Miami and have the operation performed by a surgical specialist because of the complicated natur of the abscess.

The Duchess is expected to enter a nursing home in Miami as soon as she arrives and to remain there several days.

The Duke's journey to Miami will mark his first visit to the United States since he came here as the Prince of Wales in 1924.

Poor Box Thief Gets 18 Months

Fourth person to be caught robbing the poor box at St. Aidan's Church, Brookline, in the last year and a half, William J. Marsch, 32, of Common st., South End, was sentenced to four months in the house of correction in Brookline court today.

Marsch, caught in the church yesterday with a screwdriver in his hand, told Capt. Joseph P. Mahoney of the Brookline police that a fellow-prisoner in Dedham jail had told him about the poor box and how to shut off the burglar alarm that is attached to it.

Despite his precautions, the burglar alarm sounded in St. Aidan's parish house and police responded in two cruising cars.

Police found in Marsch's possession a set of newspaper clippings concerning the recent wave of sex crimes in Greater Boston and also a notebook with notations in code. Cambridge police questioned him in regard to the sex offenses, but eliminated him from suspicion.

Marsch's record—a novel one—includes one sentence for rifling the desk of Medfield's chief of police, and another for breaking into a poor box in a South Boston church.

First Lady Finishes Christmas Shopping

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who annually starts her Christmas shopping about 11 months before Christmas, completed her 1940 Yule gift list—and received a request from a small boy to be his intermediary with Santa Claus.

"Please tell Santa to bring me a toy car," said 3-year-old Desmond Horton, slipping to the first lady's side and receiving a friendly pat as she shopped for men's neckties.

Some of the 12 necktie-and-handkerchief sets Mrs. Roosevelt chose were definitely on the gay side, for holiday wear. In 25 minutes of swift shopping at a Fifth ave. department store she also selected a number of toys and games and two evening bags.

Earlier in the week, she bought a lapin coat and two dresses—a pale blue crepe evening gown and a black crepe daytime dress with white trimming—to send young friends for Christmas.

Last year, the store said, her Christmas gifts included 100 dozen handkerchiefs—12 to a box; but she lingered longest today at a toy table.

She gives each of her younger grandchildren one Christmas toy. Among her choices were a big and a small teddy bear, a toy panda, a set of alphabet blocks and an educational toy of the "push-pull" type.

Most of her grandchildren will spend this Christmas in their own homes. As far as Mrs. Roosevelt now knows, only two children—Franklin D. Roosevelt, 3rd, and Harry Hopkins' daughter, Diana—will spend Christmas at the White House.

LAD'S TUMMY-ACHE KEEPS POLICE ON JUMP

Young Henry Maloof's turkey appetite gave Brighton police a pretty busy time of it early today, what with Henry's stomachache and all.

Henry, who is 12 and lives in Western ave., Brighton, with his parents and five brothers and sisters, got up early yesterday and shoveled snow to work up an appetite for the 16-pound family turkey.

The Maloofs demolished the browned bird and not the learst of the trenchermen at the board was Henry.

But at 3:30 a. m. today Henry's tummy, beaten for hours, staged a determined rally and fought back. Henry's cries aroused the household and the worried mother, Mrs. Adele Maloof, sent the sufferers' elder brother, Leon, out to do sometning about it.

Leon's action was to sound a police citizen's alarm, bringing a radio car and a patrol wagon. The officers called for doctors and two responded, Dr. John E. Hopkins of Cambridge st. and Dr. Yervant S. Elmadjia of Waverly st.

The physicians agreed that it was acute indigestion, and after relieving the condition they lectured Henry on the folly of trying to eat too much turkey.

Today Henry held to his bed.

SALES TAX OPPOSED BY F. D.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he would look with disfavor on sales tax to raise additional revenue for the defense program.

The statement was in response to a press conference question about his supper conference tonight with seven congressional and departmental fiscal advisers.

The Chief Executive said he had not heard of any talk that a sales tax would be included in any new general tax bill in the session of Congress starting in January.

When asked flatly whether he would look with favor on such a proposal he replied he would not.

The President told reporters if a big discussion tonight would be merely explanatory, that both taxes and expenditures would be examined, but that no decisions would be reached at this time.

Invitations to the informal dinner tonight were issued to the conclusion to follow went to Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Assistant Secretary Sullivan, Budget Director Smith, Senators Harrison (D) of Mississippi and George (D) of Georgia, of the Senate finance committee, and Reps. Vaughton (D) of North Carolina and Cooper (D) of Tennessee, of the house ways and means committee.

IN AGREEMENT

Harrison and Doughton are chairmen of the congressional committees that handle revenue legislation.

President Roosevelt and his fiscal advisers seemed in agreement that non-military budget items must be cut to the bone. In addition, several of the Democratic members of the house are known to favor cuts for general increases in taxes to help, at least, balance the "normal" or domestic budget and possibly to take care of some of the increased outlays for defense.

While expenditures in the current fiscal year ending next June 30 have been estimated at around $13,500,000,000, Congress approved appropriations and authorizations for this and future years totaling more than $20,000,000,000.

SAVING SEEN

Some congressmen predicted the 1941-42 budget may call for upwards of $15,000,000,000.

Others have estimated a saving of $500,000,000 or more in non-defense appropriations, which the chief executive said last Tuesday must be cut to a minimum to permit concentration of spending on military and naval preparations.

Mercy Attack Proves Fatal to Wife, 75

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Nov. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Edward A. Lapp, 75, who police said, was beaten over the head by her husband because he was "sick of seeing her suffer," died today.

The 76-year-old husband, shot himself to death soon after killing his wife Thursday, Police Sergeant James Stelling reported. Mrs. Lapp had been an invalid for 18 months. The couple recently celebrated a golden wedding anniversary at their home in a fashionable residential section.

Gen. Chaffee Enters Hospital in Boston

In the Massachusetts General Hospital today was Maj.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, the Army officer who was designated recently to head the United States' new fully mechanized force. He entered the hospital somewhat after Germans turned Panzer units. The nature of his illness was not revealed.

Mystery Blast Razes R. I. Home

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 29 (INS)—A mysterious explosion, thought to be a bomb or heavy explosive today obliterated the five-room bungalow of Mrs. Julia Ferri, mother of five children.

Mrs. Ferri and her children were not at home when the blast occurred. They had spent Thanksgiving at the home of her mother.

Police sought to locate Anthony Ferri, estranged husband and father of the family in the hope he might be able to aid them in finding a solution to the mysterious blast.

U. S. Bomber Off for Britain

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 29 (AP)—First of a fleet of Consolidated 28 patrol bomber seaplanes took off today for an unannounced destination en route ultimately to join in the defense of Great Britain.

The craft, camouflaged an olive green, lyeft at 4:35 a. m. (7:35 EST) from the coast guard base.

Aboard the ship, which has 104-foot wingspan and is similar to the U. S. Navy's famous PBY flying boats, were naval reserve Lieut. W. Cleveland and Douglas Kelley, a San Diego aviator, as pilots; and Russ Rogers and I. G. Ross as observers. Rogers piloted the Archbold plane Guba on its around the world flight. Ross is a Canadian Airways pilot.

Delivery is to be taken by the Canadian government on the east coast, the company refused to say where.

U. S. Launches New Submarine

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 29 (AP)—The submarine Grenadier, costing $3,500,000 and built in less than nine months, was launched today at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Sponsored by Mrs. Walter S. Anderson, wife of the rear admiral directing naval intelligence, the craft was the fourth to slide down the ways here this year.

YD WILL JOIN ARMY JAN. 13; DRAFTEES GET WEEKENDS

The State's military front today was marked by preparations of the 26th (Yankee) Division for induction into the Army and by the news that draftees at Fort Devens may go home weekends.

The Yankee Division, famous unit in the World War, will be mustered into active service Jan. 13, according to Maj.-Gen. James A. Woodruff, who said the date is based on expected completion of certain buildings at Camp Edwards.

While Gen. Woodruff and his staff speeded the plans which will bring 10,000 Massachusetts men of the YD to the colors, happy trainees at Fort Devens were preparing to take advantage of the new order which will allow them to visit their homes every week.

SEVERAL RESTRICTIONS

There were several restrictions, however. The trainees must furnish their own transportation. They must wear their uniforms at all times, except where special permission to the contrary is obtained.

Then, too, there were a number of trainees who would not be able to avail themselves of the privilege, because they came from far away towns in Maine and New Hampshire.

Maj. Gen. Roger W. Eckfeldt, commanding general of the YD, will be called to duty on an active training status two weeks in advance to make plans for the inductions which will be held at all the 50 state armories of the division, Gen. Woodruff explained.

Also to be called with Gen. Eckfeldt will be 13 staff officers and 20 members of the division headquarters enlisted personnel.

TO TAKE 10 DAYS

The inductions are expected to take at least 10 days. At Camp Edwards, the men will find an $8,000,000 camp awaiting them with 1200 buildings nearing completion under Capt. Karl M. Patee, new construction quartermaster there. Capt. Patee is a former Boston consulting engineer.

Six weeks after the National Guardsmen are inducted into the regular Army, draft recruits will begin to arrive at the rate of nearly 2000 a month until 8000 have been added to bring the YD up to 18,500, Gen. Woodruff said.

Boston will send the 101st Infantry, the old Fighting Ninth, commanded by Col. Paul V. Kirk. Middlesex County will send the 182d Infantry, successor to the old Dandy Fifth, commanded by Col. Howard E. Fuller.

SELECTEES ASSIGNED

These two regiments make up the 51st Infantry Brigade, commanded by Brig.-Gen. William I. Rose.

At the same time, the 101st Observation squadron, which will be attached to the YD for training, will move to Camp Edwards from the East Boston airport, where it already has gone into training following induction.

Meanwhile, at Fort Devens, 35 selectees, 18 from Greater Boston, already have been assigned to the Second Battalion of the 26th Infantry, a regular Army unit stationed there.

While indicating other draftees would be sent to the 26th Infantry over the weekend, Army officials explained that every one of the men transferred have had military training of some kind before, either in college with the C. M. T. C.

MEN TRANSFERRED

Massachusetts men transferred were Walter Joras and Gilbert R. Dale of Adams; John A. McCormack, Melvin H. Hackel, Joseph Homer and Leroy Davis of Boston; Maurice Katz, Robert M. Reis and John R. HOPE FOR MISSING DRAGGER FADES AS PART OF WRECKAGE IS PICKED UP OFF CAPE

Fears for the safety of the Boston fishing dragger Frances, overdue five days, grew more ominous today when the Coast Guard reported that a beam trawl board and net from the dragger has been picked up off Provincetown.

The float and net were brought into Provincetown by the dragger Mermaid and there identified as from the Frances by the captain of another dragger, Rosie.

It was reported to the Coast Guard by the crew of the Mermaid that the board and net were found on the measured mile course used by submarines in shakedown cruises.

Coast Guard officers said there was still hope that the gear might have been washed overboard from the Frances' deck in last Wednesday's storm and that the craft might yet be afloat with her crew of five still aboard.

Meanwhile a distraught, yet confident Everett bride of four weeks, crowding back tears, followed the Coast Guard search for the missing dragger and declared her confidence that her youthful husband aboard is safe because "he is too young to die."

While the Coast Guard planned to use additional planes in the hunt for the vessel with five men aboard, Mrs. Anthony Singara, 20, was torn between anxiety and optimism as she waited patiently for word at the home of her husband's parents.

With a Thanksgiving dinner practically untouched, Mrs. Salvatore Cuilla of Irving st., Everett, mother of 10 children, also awaited her husband.

A New Service

"SPECIAL CHECKING ACCOUNTS"

OFFERED IN BOSTON EXCLUSIVELY BY THE SHAWMUT BANK

SIMPLE CONVENIENT · ECONOMICAL

Now, all individuals may enjoy the convenience and prestige of a checking account: housewives, wage earners, salaried and professional people gain many advantages through use of this "Special Checking Account" service. Any sum will open an account—even as little as $1. There is no minimum balance required, no monthly charge for maintenance or activity, and no charge for the cancelled checks which are periodically returned to you. A charge of $2 for a book of twenty checks, at the rate of 10 cents per check, covers the entire cost of Shawmut "Special Checking Account" service. There are no other charges for the regular use of this service, no matter how many checks you draw—and there is no charge for making deposits.

ALSO A NEW UNIFORM PLAN OF ANALYSIS FOR REGULAR CHECKING ACCOUNTS

You can open a Regular Checking Account for whatever amount is convenient. No stated balance is required under this Regular Checking Account plan and accounts, regardless of size, are solicited.

All Regular Checking Accounts will be analyzed on the same basis. . . . Where charges may be necessary, they will be determined on basis of activity in the account with relation to the balance maintained.

This plan replaces our measured service plan previously in effect, which provided for a stated number of free items on accounts up to $1000, and also discontinues the monthly fixed charge of $1 on balances below $300.

THESE CHANGES ARE EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 1

In addition, "Register Checks" will be issued and handled as in the past

3 Boy Coasters Badly Hurt

Thanksgiving school holidays brought grief today to three Jamaica Plain boys who were seriously injured in two coasting accidents.

Leo Antonowitz, 10, of Gay Head st., suffered a ruptured liver, fractured ribs, a brain concussion and face cuts when he coasted into an automobile left parked at Gay Head and Round Hill sts.

A short time later John McDonald, 14, of Adelaide st., and Wilbur Vater, 9, of Spring Park ave., collided with a moving automobile while coasting in Enfield st.

Young McDonald suffered a fractured nose and cut tongue, while Vater received a brain concussion, cuts and the loss of three teeth.

All three were taken by police to City Hospital.

SENTENCED—Helga Schleuter, 20, today was sentenced to from one to two years in New Jersey Woman's Reformatory at Clinton for throwing the United States flag to the ground during a parade at Lakewood last June. She showed no emotion at the sentencing in Toms River court.

Forecaster Pays For His Wrong Guess in Maine

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 29 (AP)—Robert M. Dole scanned the heavens last night and told a filling station attendant to dose his car's radiator to protect it to 15 degrees above zero. The temperature dropped to five above in Portland and Dole's car "froze up."

Dole, who is head of the Portland weather bureau, said the same thing "happens almost every year."

U. S. Fires 20 Disloyal Aides

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin says today approximately 20 federal employes in non-military departments in Pennsylvania and Delaware have been discharged for "un-American views or membership in un-American organizations."

The dismissals resulted from investigations ordered from Washington and will continue, the newspaper reported.

The newspaper also said it had learned investigators of the third Civil Service district, embracing the two states, are checking applicants for new positions.

428-Vote Gain Shown for Dever

Gov. Saltonstall's plurality over Atty.-Gen Dever had been cut down by 428 votes today with nearly 80 per cent of the 2,000,000 election ballots yet to be recounted.

Saltonstall's lead had been whittled down to 7022, as half a dozen communities resumed their recounting after the holiday.

In Wards 1 and 2 of Somerville, Dever picked up 46 votes. Other wards in that city will be counted tonight and tomorrow night.

Boston will start its recount Monday.

Recounts in Ipswich, East Longmeadow and Cummington varied by only one vote from the original figures.

At Hatfield, home of the Democratic state chairman, Dever lost a net of four when the Saltonstall count was increased by three and the Dever tabulation reduced by one.

Wrentham was one of the few towns to report no change.

Ex-Weston Lawyer Jailed in $30 Theft

Charged with the larceny of $30 from Harry I. Baker of Merrill st Dorchester, John J. Dooley of South ave., Weston, former lawyer, was sentenced today in municipal court to two months in the House of Correction.

The same officers who had him in court today—Detectives James McDevitt, Joseph Desmond and Dennis Hagerty—arrested him in 1935 for the alleged larceny of $800 by means of worthless checks. At that time Dooley was disbarred and was given probation on condition that he make restitution.

Mother in Coakley Theft Ill, Trial Off

Freed for Thanksgiving Day on her promise that she would appear today to face charges of having forged Executive Councilor Daniel H. Coakley's name on $1250 worth of checks, Mrs. Muriel C. Morin, 25-year-old mother of two children, didn't keep her promise.

She couldn't. She was sick in bed.

On Wednesday, Police Inspectors William Bonner and Joseph Decker had pleaded with Judge Davis B. Kenniston to allow the young mother to spend Thanksgiving with her two children. The judge agreed and freed her in $1000 personal recognizance on condition she appear today.

When court opened, she wasn't there, but the inspectors produced two doctors' certificates declaring Mrs. Morin was ill and had been ordered to bed.

Judge Kenniston declared he would have to find her in default, but that the default would be rescinded when she was able to appear.

Earlier in the week the detectives had testified that Mrs. Morin, formerly employed as a clerk by Coakley, had admitted $450 worth of the forgeries.

ACTORS' PRIEST DIES ON BELOVED BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Very Rev. Mgr. Edward F. Leonard, the "actors' priest" who was friend and confidant of hundreds of theatrical folk, was dead today.

Heart disease struck down the jovial, silver-haired pastor of St. Malachy's Church, just off Broadway. He was 70 years old.

In the last 20 years, Father Leonard had endeared himself to such celebrities as George M. Cohan, Pat O'Brien and Irene Dunne. He administered the last rites to Rudolph Valentino.

Father Leonard summed up his wishes thus:

"I want to live and die right here on Broadway. I have come to understand and sympathize with my people, and I wouldn't be happy anywhere else. My heart is with the actors."

WALLACE RIOTERS ARRESTED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 29 (AP)—A pro-Almazan demonstration before the United States Embassy last night which police ended with tear gas after stones had been hurled and two attaches cuffed marked a stormy beginning for the visit of U. S. Vice President-Elect Henry A. Wallace.

"Viva Almazan—down with Wallace!" a crowd of 150 to 200 shouted when the latter arrived here to represent the United States at the inauguration of President-Elect General Manuel Avila Camacho Sunday.

The demonstrators, disgruntled followers of Gen. Juan Andreau Almazan, who was defeated by Avila Camacho in the disputed election of last July 7, jeered Wallace and threw stones at the steel-shuttered windows of the embassy before police scattered them with tear gas.

No attempt was made to molest Wallace but the military and naval attaches of the embassy, Col. Gordon McCoy and Commander Wallace Dillon, reported they were cuffed about by the crowd.

Three youths were arrested for throwing rocks at the embassy and the Wallace cars.

Automobiles carrying the Wallace party rolled up to the embassy to the accompaniment of these cries:

"Viva Almazan!"

"The United States betrayed Almazan!"

"Down with Wallace!"

and at one other point.

6-Hour Day Gets AFL OK

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today "strongly" reaffirmed its indorsement of a six-hour day, 30-hour week without reduction in pay or standards, but did not recommend that it be put into practice at this time.

The annual convention instructed the A. F. of L. officers to guard against any encroachment on the present 40-hour week and the wages and standards now in effect.

There was no indication in the convention's concluding business that any direct effort would be made toward reduction in the 40-hour week which was approved as being "efficient" under the national defense program.

It was stated in a committee report adopted by the convention that top efficiency was not possible in work exceeding the 40-hour week.

Unemployment must be provided for, the convention decided, pointing out that a work week exceeding 40 hours would prevent hundreds of thousands now unemployed from securing jobs.

The report said:

"American industry is geared to the 40-hour work week."

AFL conventions for several years past have endorsed a 6-hour day, 30-hour week.

This report was acted upon as the delegates worked overtime to finish their job which was scheduled to be completed yesterday.

Kelley Assails Gillis On Beano in Revere

Mayor Lawrence J. Gillis has allowed Revere beano operators to conduct their games without licenses, it was charged today by City Treasurer Thomas U. Kelley in answering Gillis' threat to "take the beano licenses off the walls."

The mayor, defeated for renomination in the primaries by Kelley and City Council President Raymond E. Carey, made his threat against the beano parlors yesterday.

Later it was announced that advisers had informed him he could not strip the beano operators of their licenses without giving notice of 48 hours.

As a result, a conference was held between the mayor and several of the operators, with the understanding following that the mayor had decided to take no action at all.

But no beano licenses have ever been issued to the present operators, according to Kelley in this latest exchange of amenities by victor and vanquished.

By some political observers the newest mayoralty move, coming swiftly upon the heels of Mayor Gillis' axe-swinging, was seen as an effort to save the operators from [illegible] support of K[illegible] mayoral [illegible] Carey.

Choice Delicacies In Faneuil Stalls

Fruit and vegetable stalls at Faneuil Hall Market today were filled to overflowing heights, with one choice delicacy—Florida strawberries—going for 75 cents a pint.

Also there were many varieties of tasty imported cheeses attractively packed and wrapped for the Christmas table.

Meats of all kinds, too, were selling at reasonable prices.

Among the fruit were Florida tangerines; 30 to 35 cents a dozen; navel oranges, 60 cents a dozen; delicious apples, 65 cents to $1 a dozen; Azores pineapples, 60 cents each; muscatel raisins, 20 cents a package.

FRENCH ENDIVE

French type endive sold at 75 cents a pound; native Pascal celery, 25 cents a bunch; butternut squash, 10 cents a pound; pumpkins, 5 cents a pound; white Cape turnips, 5 cents pound; sweet potatoes, four pounds for 25 cents; red cabbage, 5 cents; French artichokes, 15 cents each.

Included among the cheeses are such varieties as Cheshire, Edam, Gorgonzola and Stilton.

Roquefort in 16-ounce crocks is $1.35; Cheshire is $1.40; Edam, $1.35, and Gorgonzola, $1.40.

PLENTY OF TURKEY

Plenty of turkey will be found. Squab are 50 to 75 cents; Western geese, 28; green geese, 35; mongrel, 45, and roasting chickens, 30 to 35 cents. Fowl is from 25 to 29 cents and broilers from 30 to 35 cents. Native ducks are selling from 20 to 22 cents.

Fresh native capons are 38 cents a pound. Pheasants are selling for $3.49 a pair for hens and $4.50 a pair for cocks, averaging in weight three and a half to four and a half pounds.

In the fish market oyster crabs are selling at $1.50 a quart; guinea haddock, 15 cents a pound; cod, 12; Eastern Shoals halibut, 65; sea scallops, 75; lemon sole, 25; jumbo shrimp, 35 cents a pound; medium smelt, 40, and large smelt, 50 cents.

Center cut pork chops are from 23 to 30; Wiltshire Canadian bacons are 55 to 65; domestic bacons 23 to 35 cents; fresh hams 23 to 28, smoked hams 20 to 30; fresh soulders, 15; smoked shoulders, 15, pure pork sausages, 39; regulation size, 25 to 35; Philadelphia Strode sausages, 45; and bratwurst sausages, 32. Lamb, beef and veal prices continue the same.

Geo. Gordon Battle Gets Hebrew Medal

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The American Hebrew medal for 1940 was awarded today to George Gordon Battle, New York attorney, for his efforts in keeping "the flame of religious hatred from searing American democracy."

The citation said that Battle, as co-chairman of the Council Against Intolerance in America, had "done much to strengthen national unity and bring about a better understanding between Christians and Jews."

This CHRISTMAS GIVE A DIAMOND SOLITAIRE

With a Shortage of Small Diamonds (Melee) Which Used to Come from Belgium and Holland, Fashion Reverts to the Old Favorite

Let's go back to the romantic days when engagement rings were known as "Solitaires." In those happy days, the single diamond mounted in its modest setting of gold or platinum was the one and only symbol of an engagement. Many a matron of today still wears and cherishes the solitaire of her betrothal day.

In recent years, ring designers became ambiticus—they put scrolls and curlicues into their one-time "plain setting." Small diamonds were worked into the designs. Soon the engagement ring had lost almost all resemblance to its austere but emphatic early character, and had become a brilliant galaxy of small diamonds, surrounding the bewildered solitaire.

As you know, the imports of melee into this country came from Holland and Antwerp. These countries have been invaded, so naturally, it is impossible to import melee (small diamonds). Consequently, startling advances have taken place in these small diamonds. Still, we can supply small diamonds while present stocks hold out, if you are willing to pay the price.

But we recommend a return to the old-time solitaire. Center stones of some size, where the problem of cutting is less acute, are available in unlimited quantity and without much increase in price. We have prepared a stock of modern solitaires for presentation that is highly attractive. With practically the entire cost centered in the one single-diamond, we think you get the most profitable and satisfactory use of the money you put into an engagement ring.

2 Divorces Won From 1 Husband

Attractive Mrs Rose A Taber of Commonwealth ave., Brighton was granted a divorce in Suffolk probate court today her second divorce from the same husband.

Mrs Taber married Albert L. Taber March 10, 1935, in Boston, and was granted a decree nisi in Suffolk court in May, 1939, after she testified Taber was irritable and temperamental.

"He was always slapping me," Mrs. Taber said at that time.

NICE SEVERAL DAYS

On Oct 11, 1939, however, the decree was vacated on her application. Taber, she said, had pleaded with her to return, promising to "be nice."

"His being nice lasted several days," Mrs. Taber told Judge John V. Mahoney. "Then he was as bad as ever. He got violently angry and flew into rage. He slapped my face and gave me welts."

Armistice Day meant nothing to the allegedly temperamental Mrs. Taber—on Nov. 11 he flew into a rage an drefused to eat a "specially good" dinner she cooked for him Mrs. Taber said.

CHOKED HER, TOO

Mrs. Esther H. S[illegible] of 11 st Charlestown [illegible] her freedom after she testified she once had thrown a [illegible] out a windof to attract the attention of neighbors because [illegible] couldn't get a mind enough.

"The reason I couldn't scream loud enough is he was choking me," she said, referring to William F. A. Sullivan. "he's big and he was always pushing me around. He was always leaving me to go out and get a drink."

William H. Brewster of Glenville ave., Allston, Congress st business man was granted a divorce when he said his wife "thought more of drinking than of me. She was always throwing things at me."

GRANDMA WITNESS

Mrs. Margaret F. Burbidge of Chestnut st, Allston, won a decree when she said Charles Burbidge never provided for her, that she had so little food after her marriage she had become sick and finally had caught pneumonia.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret A. Thomas, testified she had had to feed Mrs. Burbidge.

Mrs. Marion C. Luce of Common st, Charlestown, said Harry Luce, an insurance company executive living on Long Island, had failed to support her.

"We were married in 1925 and have three children," she said in winning a divorce, "Shirley, 14; Harry, Jr., 13, and Jacqueline, seven."

Dies Defies F.D. Plans 2 Papers

WASHINGTON, Nov 29 (NS) Rep. Martin Dies (D.) of Texas announced today his committee would publish two new papers revealing activities of Nazi and Italian fifth columns in the United States despite a warning by President Roosevelt that "premature disclosures" of subversive operations would jeopardize the government's law enforcement work.

Dies made the statement at a press conference after he came back to Washington for a showdown with the president.

Before going to the White House for a talk with Mr. Roosevelt, Dies offered fullest co-operation with the President, but declared he would stand by his convictions "until the American people, who have kept our committee in existence, reverse themselves."

Dies said he would recommend the committee issue a "second white paper" dealing with the Bund and a booklet on Italian Fascist organizations.

NEW NAZI AIR DRIVE SEEN MOVE TO SAVE ITALY

By PRESTON GROVER

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Germany's smashing new air attacks on Britain—beginning with Coventry two weeks ago—have aroused neutral speculation in Berlin as to whether these hammer blows may conceivably be designed to compel withdrawal of British planes from the Mediterranean and relieve painful pressure on the Italian end of the Axis.

While England is taking this heavy, regular pounding, neutral observers voice the belief the Mediterranean area is coming so thoroughly under British control that it is creating a new problem for the Axis.

The Greek successes, coupled with the report crippling of half of Italy's battleship strength at Taranto Nov. 11 seem to have eased Britain's Mediterranean problem and caused many observers to wonder how long Germany will wait before taking steps to bring this end of its widespread war back into blitzkrieg pattern.

ITALY FEELS WAR PUNCH

While the German end of the Axis is facing the winter without publicly observable qualms, reports from Italy induce speculation as to how happily that country, already reduced from its pre-war boom to four meatless days a week, will get through the coming cold months under the blockade.

In Washington, the United States Department of Agriculture reported the British blockade of the Mediterranean has been so effective that Italy faces severe shortages of some foodstuffs and raw materials during the winter. —Editor's note.

One of the big questions being asked by neutrals after last night's blast at Liverpool was:

How long can England hold out against the smashing raids of Germany's air fleet?

Since early August the one weapon with which Germany can physically reach England—the luftwaffe—has been hammering on many fronts, with special intensification, beginning Sept. 7, against London.

CITIES IN RUINS

Now, in the course of 15 days, one major industrial city or vital seaport after another has been subjected to heavy bomb attacks.

German official announcements have given the following information:

Nov. 15—Coventry, 500 tons of high explosive bombs and thousands of incendiaries dropped.

Nov. 20—Birmingham, 500 tons and more thousands of incendiaries. The Germans described the Birmingham attack as worse than Coventry.

Nov. 23—Birmingham again, to "clean up" objectives passed over previously in the big Midlands manufacturing city, 100 tons of explosives dropped.

Nov. 24—Southampton, 600 tons of bombs dropped, plus 12,000 incendiaries.

NO LETUP ON LONDON

"Nov. 25—Bristol, "several hundred thousand" pounds of bombs.

Nov. 28—Plymouth, bombed by loads of "over 100 bombers," each carrying approximately a ton of bombs, as well as scores of incendiaries.

Then, last night and today, Liverpool, where several hundred bombers dropped "several hundred tons" of explosives.

All during this time, the Germans say, London has been getting it.

Grain elevators, oil tanks, warehouses and factories in Liverpool, England's second largest port, were shelled by the modern "artillery of the air," the Nazis said.

Oil tanks were said to have burst under the shock, sending much-needed fuel burning wastefully into the Mersey river. The Germans called it a "destructive" blow against the port.

New Conscience Fund Twist

Boston's "Conscience Fund" received a contribution in a new way today.

For the first time since worrying delinquents began making up their debts to the city anonymously, a man walked quietly into the city treasurer's office, slid an envelope marked "For City Treasurer J. J. McCarthy" under a wicket, and went out.

McCarthy found a $20 bill in the envelope and a note:

"Kindly accept the enclosed money for your conscience fund."

It was the first contribution not to come through the mail.

Cuban Professor Ambushed, Killed

60,000 Hub Aliens Fail To Register

With 60,000 aliens of voting age still unregistered in the Boston postal district and 90 per cent of alien children likewise unregistered, Postmaster Peter F. Tague declared today that those failing to appear for registration and fingerprinting will be prosecuted in accordance with the law.

Tague made his statement after returning from Washington, where he conferred with Earl G. Harrison, director of alien registration.

The registration period ends here Dec. 26 and failure to comply with the alien registration law carries a fine of $1000 or six months' imprisonment or both.

"This law was made both to protect the aliens and the government," Tague declared. "The penalties will be imposed on those failing to register."

Names of aliens who fail to register will be turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and later to U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon for prosecution, he said.

Under the law, all children more than 14, born in a foreign country to parents who are aliens, are compelled to be registered through their parents or guardians

Missing N. H. Girl Sought Over Nation

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 29—A nation-wide search was under way today for Martha C. Berry, pretty 15-year-old Portsmouth girl who vanished during a trip with her parents five weeks ago.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Edward C. Berry, revealed that her daughter was missing after the family had spent the night in a hotel at White Plains, N. Y. The parents did not immediately report the girl as missing.

Patrolman Stricken On Return to Job

FLAW IN PARKING BAN, SO $6 FINE REFUNDED

For the first time within the memory of anyone, a defendant in for parking got his money back today in traffic court—but he had to step around a bit for the $6.

As a result of his endeavor, however, the police department may now have to post signs on all streets where parking is forbidden before 9:30 a. m., or have the blanket edict bog down.

Edward E. Fogg, Jr., 20, of Peterboro st., Fenway, pleaded guilty to six such offenses, but protested that there were no signs forbidding parking before 9:30 in the Faneuil Hall Market sts. where he had left his car.

After paying the $6, young Fogg hustled down to the market district and got letters from representative business men, stating that there were no such signs there.

There were two signs, the letters said

"No parking, 1 A. M. to 6 P. M."

"1 Hour Parking, 7 A. M. to 6 P. M."

Fogg showed his letters to the traffic prosecuting officer, Thomas Kennedy, who took him again before Judge Joseph T. Zottoli.

"Well, I'll have to file these charges," said the judge. "Very evidently those signs are misleading and they aren't fair to the defendant. It isn't right. We'll have to get that money back for him."

To Officer Kennedy the judge said

"You'd better get up some signs down there."

Fogg, who had said the $6 was all he had between him and payday next week was handed back his money by Clerk Fred Haidy, who advised that he count it.

"Oh, I guess it's o. k.," replied Fogg, grinning. "The court is probably honest. Boy, I can eat a corned beef and cabbage dinner today. I was figuring on eating ham sandwiches for the next week."

Santason Welcomed By Throngs

If there was any doubt as to the most popular man in Boston today it was all removed after the Santason spectacle, for a conservative estimate of 500,000 persons young and old in heart and age turned out despite a biting north wind to welcome Santason and his beloved father, Santa Claus.

It was the most colorful, the most varied and the most original parade in the 12 years during which Jordan Marsh Co. has sponsored this annual classic. And from the moment when Santason landed from his far northern stronghold in his amphibian plane, the Northwind, to the moment when the last dashing military unit swung along the line of march, thrills unfolded upon thrills for children and grownups alike

BROUGHT WIND ALONG

Santason seemed to have brought the north wind in person direct from his polar home. And this wind actually made more amazing and grotesque the fabulous character balloons, representing beloved personages of comics and radio, fiction and fairy lore.

For great were the difficulties, in this sharp wind, of inflating the gigantic balloons with the helium gas which is their breath of life. And some famed characters suffered unexpected casualties.

The enormous "Big Man," for example, had his head and his right arm literally torn off as the wind swept from the river across Beacon st. And so "Little Man," one of the tiniest of his entourage gallantly held up the wounded giant who toppled ... assisted him in greeting.

MICKEY LOSES WHISKER

Mickey Mouse lost an expressive whisker within a few feet of the reviewing stand at the State House. A stoic Indian lost his head and his hatchet, but managed to billow along impressively with the remainder of his anatomy. Elmer the Elephant had part of his massive trunk deflated. But Dracula the Dragon, 90 feet of writhing serpent, rippled and slithered along his brilliant-scaled length without injury.

But to the children it mattered little whether or not the wind lopped off a few heads or limbs here and there. There were their familiar friends, greeted with shrill excited shrieks, with joyous recognition.

There were no injuries reported, despite the difficulties of keeping under control the huge balloons, mounted on steel carts, which threatened to break away from their manipulators.

New units in the parade included 55 features, known as the Jean Gros Children's Parade with a mammoth balloon depicting a dinosaur of antediluvian days. Floats direct out of fairyland included the familiar Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, Little Red Riding Hood, Pinocchio, Jack the Giant Killer and scores of others.

Gov. Saltonstall and his staff reviewed the parade at the State House, and Mayor Tobin and his party at City Hall. The parade then swung up Washington st., through the downtown streets and to Jordan Marsh Co., where it was disbanded, after company officials had formally welcomed their two famous guests for the approaching Christmas season.

Sorority to Hear Mrs. Dwight Morrow

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, recently acting president of Smith College, will be the speaker at the annual dinner of the Radcliffe College Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, to be held Friday, Dec. 13, at Agassiz House at the college. Mrs. Morrow's subject will be "Reflections of an Amateur College President."

President Ada L. Comstock of Radcliffe will bring greetings to Phi Beta Kappa members from the college, and Reginald H. Phelps will represent the Harvard Chapter. Preceding the dinner, newly-elected Radcliffe seniors will be initiated into the honor society

Riding down Tremont st. goes one of the "Three Little Pigs," playing a merry tune on his horn in the annual Santason parade. He delighted thousands of children and grown-ups who braved the chilly morning to witness the spectacle.

Shopping Month Here

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

This is the shopping month and we start right off for the benefit of those wavering milksops who have not yet made up their friends' minds.

First of all, don't try to find parking space near a store that is near the store where you shop. If there is anything that makes a storekeeper angry it's to be used as a landing field by the enemy.

Furthermore, remember that the customer is always right until she tries to exchange something in January.

A gift should be accepted in the same spirit in which it is tendered but should not be thrown back.

Now, the buying of somthing nice for your best friend is a shaded transaction of delicate tints. It should be nice enough for her. But not nice enough that you should wear it yourself.

I admit that I do not quite get the feminine intuitions. But I know when a lady shops for the girl friend it can be overdone. There is nothing more embarrassing than for both of you to meet at the Exchange Desk on the first Monday before the second Tuesday in January. The best thing to do in that case is try to make believe that you think the Exchange Desk is a Travel Bureau. And that you are willing to go in any direction.

There are three kinds of Christmas shopping. For yourself, for your husband and for your girl friend. They should be done on three separate days so as not to get the moods mixed. It would be just too bad if you got generous on the wrong day.

The best thing about family and acquaintance shopping is that it can be done early by reflex action alone. There is no great mental strain attached to it. You can point at a pile of most anything and tell the saleslady to wrap it up.

JAP PEACE TRAIN BOMBED

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29 (AP)—Five coaches of a Shanghai-Nanking train were blasted from the tracks today and between 100 and 400 persons were killed or injured as the toll of a dynamite mine reported laid by Chinese guerrillas to spoil the impending ceremonious signing of a Japanese-sponsored treaty at Nanking.

One report had it that passengers on the train included Japanese and Chinese officials bound for Nanking to participate in the signing tomorrow of a pact of recognition and collaboration between Japan and her creation, the Wong Ching-Wei Chinese government.

It also was considered possible foreigners were aboard the train, including American newspapermen en route to Wang's capital for the treaty ceremonies.

However, Japanese military authorities who direct operation of the line, denied officials or newspapermen were aboard.

Japanese military quarters expressed belief 100 casualties was the "approximately correct" figure for the wreck, but unconfirmed Chinese reports were that 100 were dead and 300 injured.

The accident occurred at Soochow, 50 miles west of Shanghai.

Domei, official Japanese news agency, reported in a broadcast from Nanking that Wing, who has been acting president of the Japanese-dominated government, assumed the presidency today and the Nanking legislative council ratified the treaty to be put into force tomorrow.—Editor's Note.

British Show Japs Air Power

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29 (INS)—In a dramatic demonstration of Far Eastern aerial power, 50 British war planes staged a night flight from Singapore to Hong Kong, which was interpreted as a warning to Japan, private advices from Britain's naval base disclosed today.

Arriving at Hongkong in the dead of night, all 50 planes landed at the Kaitak Airport with utmost precision. The British planes quickly refuelled and then took off for Singapore.

Authoritative quarters in Shanghai pointed out that the episode coincided with the arrival of a new American bombing squadron at Manila and that it occurred while Japan was concentrating thousands of troops at Hainan Island for Nippon's anticipated "drive to the south."

Cudahy Confirms He's Quit Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—John A. Cudahy, ambasador to Belgium, announced he had tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt at a White House conference. Cudahy said he resigned orally, but would follow up with a written message today.

Cudahy said he would return to Milwaukee, Wis., and that he planned to write a book—probably a novel based on "Conspiracies in Poland."

Following the German invasion of Belgium, Cudahy went to London and drew a reprimand from the State Department for an unauthorized interview he gave newsmen, in which he was quoted as praising the discipline of German soldiers. He charged, on his return here, that he had been misquoted.

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1940

COLUMNIST DURLING, in his uniquely informative feature on this page, makes interesting observations.

Mr. Durling wants a watch for Christmas to replace his no longer reliable timepiece from which a foreign jeweller "borrowed" the American works and substituted an inferior mechanism.

He likes the idea of buying Yuletide gifts for every member of the family, even though the purchaser's lack of financial means obliges him to confine his patronage to the five and ten cent store.

He favors modifying present-day etiquette restrictions to permit men to give women such intimate presents as hosiery and lingerie, which, he says, ladies enjoy receiving at Christmastime.

Actually, Mr. Durling's remarks are more than interesting.

They are also TIMELY.

Today the 1940 Christmas shopping season opens officially in New England.

Once more, as they did in grandfather's day, all roads lead to Boston.

Everybody is planning to spend at least a forenoon or afternoon here.

Everybody is looking forward to a pleasant experience—an experience that is traditionally as much a part of the Christmas season as the holiday itself.

Gift suggestions—even unconventional ones—are welcome and useful.

A CENTURY AGO all New Englanders who could possibly afford the time and money journeyed to Boston at least once in the interval between Thanksgiving day and Christmas eve.

For most of them the trip was long, arduous and not a little hazardous.

Their principal vehicle of transportation was the stagecoach.

They started early in the morning, usually before sunrise.

They did not expect too much, and they were seldom disappointed.

If the outside temperature was cold, the coach's interior was colder.

The bricks which were warmed at the beginning of the trip and placed on the coach floor to keep travelers' toes from freezing soon lost their heat.

Roads were rough, stony and crooked.

Hills were as Nature built them, and the course was always upgrade or downgrade, with smooth stretches rare and few.

Horses moved by whim and fancy, sometimes running as though pursued by bears, sometimes idling along at a snail's pace, sometimes bolting and breaking the harnesses.

Consequently the occupants of the coach were jostled, upset, pushed from side to side and even flung from their seats.

There was always something doing.

But, after several stops at taverns and inns for food, rest and refreshments, the sturdy souls usually reached Boston.

Then, after a night of recuperation in a hotel, they commenced their Christmas shopping, acquiring the cameos, cashmere shawls, crinolines and daguerreotypes which are now commanding fancy prices as heirlooms and antiques.

But the trip was always deemed worth the expenditure of time, energy and money.

In fact, no New Englander's Christmas was thought complete without his having visited Boston.

WE OF TODAY are more fortunate.

No matter where we live—be it the Connecticut line or the Canadian border—we may reach Boston in a few hours.

We may drive our modern automobiles, marvelously heated and cushioned.

We may ride in big, luxuriously appointed buses and let somebody else do the steering and gear-shifting.

We may relax in streamlined, air-conditioned trains.

Or, if we are in a special hurry, we may climb into a plane and be in Boston in less time than our ancestor required to get out of town.

The custom of New Englanders' doing their Christmas buying in Boston has not changed.

The chief difference is that the year 1940 sees shoppers reaching the metropolis more easily and quickly.

PRESENT-DAY BOSTON is also a revelation and surprise.

Our clothing stores have no equal in the whole world.

Our furniture stores can supply everything for the Cape Cod cottage or for the mansion as pretentious as a king's palace.

Our jewelry displays rival the fabulous treasures of India.

Our toy departments are a veritable world in miniature, containing not only the dolls, drums, games and tin soldiers that have delighted children for ages, but also wondrous new and ingenious things which will please [illegible] and mother as much as son and daughter.

On The Side

By E. V. DURLING

ONLY A FEW weeks until Christmas. Guess I'll have to start dropping a few hints around the house as to what I hope somebody gives me. Last year I started 62 days before Christmas, saying how much I wished I had a pair of field glasses. I got them, too. Some glasses! When the horses are at the starting gate I can see the whites of the jockeys' eyes. I haven't decided definitely what to hint about this year, but maybe it will be a watch. Yesterday my watch was 15 minutes slow; today it is 35 minutes slow. I think there is something the matter with it. In fact, I know what is the matter with it. I left it in a place in Patras, Greece, to have a new glass put in and the jeweller stole the American works and substituted some cheap foreign-made watch machinery. I didn't find this out until I reached Naples, Italy.

HOW MANY NAMES have you on your Christmas list? I know a fellow who has 10 married sisters and they all have children. He gives each sister and brother-in-law and every niece and nephew a present. One year when having a little hard luck he had to make up his Christmas list at the five and ten cent store. But he has never missed so far.

SOMETHING must be done about making shopping less trying for men wishing to purchase articles of intimate apparel such as hosiery or lingerie, as gifts for loved ones. Feminine appreciation is so great for this type of gift men should not be deprived of the pleasure of such giving. I ask you, mister, have you ever purchased a nightgown for a lady? I have. In Paris. My wife, who was in the American hospital, gave me a list of things to purchase for her, one of which was the article aforementioned. I went to a place on the Champs Elysees and handed the girl the written description of the desired article. She dragged out a number of samples and held them before me saying: "Tres alluring, n'estce pas?" "Tres seductive, n'estce pas?" etc., etc. "Wrap that one up," I said, pointing at something in pink. The girl then began to dangle before me even more intimate articles of apparel, saying: "Tres jolie, n'estce pas?" I said firmly: "All I want is what is written on that paper." She wasn't that easily discouraged. "Some perfume for madame?" she exclaimed. "A little surprise perhaps?" I was forced to raise my voice a little as I said: "Listen, wrap up that seductive robe de nuit and let me get out of here." She did.

SHE'LL DREAM OF GIFT SHE WANTS MOST
Durling Suggests It May Be Hosiery or Lingerie

IT IS the thought behind a gift that counts. The better the present suits the tastes and needs of the recipient, the more it is appreciated. I had an uncle who always wore a belt, and one Christmas he received 28 gifts of suspenders.

MY DAY

NEW YORK, Thursday—Yesterday was almost entirely given over to personal affairs. Two people joined me at 9:30 and went as far as the entrance to the building where the U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children was meeting, in order to tell me some of their difficulties in attempted aid to liberal publishers and editors in Europe today.

I tried on some clothes, practically finished my Christmas shopping (except for the inevitable last things which keep popping up) and was home at my apartment for lunch. Three of my young cousins, whom I see rather rarely, were with me for a delightful visit.

After a little more shopping in the afternoon, I went to see Mrs. Samuel Barlow, who is very anxious that we should do a little more effective relief work along certain lines. I hope very much that it may be possible to work it out, for when you look at the newspapers, you realize how ruthless present conditions seem to have made people in the war-torn countries.

THERE IS hardly a ripple when one group wipes out an opposition group, so you cannot help feeling that it is necessary to keep alive the desire of people to be merciful and to help to alleviate suffering.

I dined rather late with some very delightful people at a French restaurant where the food is certainly superlatively good.

I wonder if you feel as I do when I turn on the radio every morning to listen to the news from Berlin and London. It seems to me that those boys sent out from Germany to destroy innocent people in England, and the other boys of the RAF rising from the ground in their planes, trying to drive back the invaders, must occasionally want to rebel at the destruction which it is their patriotic duty to create.

Of course, for both of them, military objectives are marked on their maps. But they know that it isn't possible to be absolutely accurate and there must be moments when facing the actual results of their work must be difficult.

At least, the boys in the RAF can feel that they are fighting against great odds. Just as the Spanish aviators in the Loyalist cause performed extraordinary feats, these English boys, because of the odds against them, prove their extraordinary gallantry over and over again. We, who watch them and know what their victory means to civilization, must pay them the tribute of gratitude and admiration.

Whenever one dies, something good is lost to the future. We women, who are conservers of the race, must weep that so much gallantry and high-hearted purpose could not be of greater benefit to man.

The Campbell Girl

"Two malted milks and two bottles of rubbing alcohol."

Dorothy Parker

Broadway Medley

DOROTHY PARKER STILL ILL

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—A young lady presented herself Monday at the Sam Harris office to apply for a job in Moss Hart's new play, "Lady in the Dark." She told Hart that she'd like the job of understudy to Gertrude Lawrence, who will star in the show . . . The playwright, who had written "Lady in the Dark" especially for Miss Lawrence, assured the applicant that no understudy would be necessary—that Miss Lawrence's role was such an important one no performances could be given without her . . . "Her role in 'Susan and God' was just as important," the young lady protested, "and I was the understudy there" . . . "My dear young lady," replied Moss Hart, "if you were the understudy in 'Susan and God'—then you must have understudied God" . . . C. E. Ostergren is in N. Y. now securing talent for a war relief benefit show to be sponsored by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in Nassau next January . . . Dorothy Parker will be at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for two weeks. She was operated upon there last Saturday.

RANDOM HOUSE, which will publish William Saroyan's collection of short stories, wired the author requesting that he submit an introduction for the book. Forty-eight hours later they received a 6000-word introduction which began: "Is Saroyan a short-story writer? Yes. He won the O. Henry prize. Is he a playwright? Yes. He won the Drama Critics Circle award and the Pulitzer prize. Is he a genius? Decidedly. Did he write 'Hamlet'? No That was another W. S.—William Shakespeare" . . . Saroyan who refused the gold medal and $1000 check from the Pulitzer prize committee, finally accepted a silver medal in recognition of his work. It was awarded by a small Armenian society in his native Fresno. He took it because his mother said she'd like to own that medal.

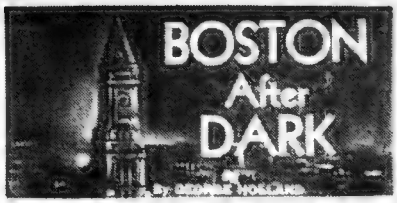
PARE LORENTZ, who produced pictures for the U. S. Film Service without exceeding the budget appropriations, Monday night revealed this example of why such an achievement is a mistake as far as the movie industry is concerned . . . When King Vidor was 28 he was honored by a special dinner given for him by Mayer, Schenck, Rubin and the other Hollywood notables. As reward for his distinguished service, Vidor was presented with a certified check for $75,000 and an assignment to produce and direct "The Jacknife Man," without interference from any executives . . . Vidor went to Mississippi to make that movie. He deposited that check in a bank there, which immediately made him vice-president . . . He brought the completed movie back to Hollywood and gave it to his sponsors, with a check for the $7000 still unused. That picture won prizes in Rome, Paris, Moscow and Berlin. Result: Vidor's option wasn't renewed.



REPORTS FROM AUSTIN, TEXAS, WHERE 45,000 rooters presumably are still celebrating the upset victory of U. of Texas over the Texas Aggies, are very cheering this crisp, snow-bearing morn

COMING TEN DAYS AFTER Dartmouth's stunning Monday victory over Cornell, the Texas bulletins indicate that a generous proportion of Boston's population has a right—for the time being at any rate—to muse pleasantly at the prospect of enjoying two holiday bowls—the eggnog bowl, as usual, and the Rose or Sugar Bowl, as not usual.

THE CAUTIOUS INTERJECTION of "for the time being at any rate" refers to Holy Cross . . . The rest, as you've certainly guessed, has to do with the Boston College Eagles . . . Holy Cross stands between the Eagles as a possibly unpleasant fulmination to shock premature dreamers out of a sea of bliss into Nightmare Nostrum.

FOR IN TWO WEEKS THE national football picture has changed through the slapping down of Cornell and Texas Aggies from a mob scene to a group photo . . . Let us consider the Rose Bowl . . . To the west, stands Stanford . . . Of the undefeated and untied "majors," there remain Minnesota, Tennessee and Boston College . . . Minnesota won't . . . Tennessee went last year (and did feebly) . . . AND DOESN'T THAT LEAVE Boston College? . . . But it also leaves Holy Cross? . . . (Dad-rat Holy Cross) . . . To veteran watchers of the Georgetown-Boston College, it is almost too nerve-wracking to dwell upon . . . So as if there were no Holy Cross, there are 21 shopping days left before Christmas and the mornin's mornin' from the eggnogg bowl.

AND THERE ARE 28 DAYS—assorted days including non-shopping ones—before that other Bowl . . . Forgetting, of course, er—Holy Cro—! . . . May we recommend, to change the subject, a contemplation of what an inspired ad writer for a leading fashion magazine call "that unmistakable, unfakeable Christmas glow?"

"THAT UNMISTAKABLE, UNFAKEABLE glow" is not what we first suspected, and does not come out of a bowl, or Bowl . . . Besides being a good "catch line," because it holds two "akable" words which are spelled with calls "that unmistakable, unfakeable Christmas glow"? is easily acquired.

YOU GET IT (according to the ad-writer) merely by reading . . . It is advisable, however, to skip the sports-pages and words like Sheeketski, Osmanski and Holy Cr—— there, we didn't say it! . . . Instead you read the absorbing, illustrated advertisements composed by the Boston merchants, and after reading, you do the simple problem of dividing 21 days by 7 and arriving at—we hope—a result of 3 . . . (Only three weeks of shopping days before Christmas) . . . Then you buy—now!

WOULD SOME OF THE following items produce that "unmistakable, unfakeable Christmas glow"—question mark, quotation mark, colon, dash, Holy blank . . . Our friend, the ad-writer says: "Ordinarily, the Darkest Moments of any woman's Christmas shopping are those spent trying to find something—anything—for the men in her life" . . . "Casuals" are new slippers, "rogue-shirts" are shirts, (with a Hollywood flare), and "Idler jackets"—also a Hollywood notion—are for outdoors wear or in . . . There is also a California cologne—"as masculine as old briar."

CALIFORNIA, HO! . . . Ho? . . . Ho——ly Cats!

POSTSCRIPT: Phil Baker quit "All in Fun" last night . . . Jacques Renard quit the Versailles bandstand, and his run ends Saturday . . . Ella Logan is coming in "Hi-Ya Gentlemen"! They say she's great, and so is Max Baer.

STUDIOS AT ODDS OVER TITLES

By Loudla O. Parsons

Robert Taylor

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Richard Rowland wires me he has bought the most terrific yarn of the year—a sort of "London Can Take It" idea. It tells the story from the beginning of the present war to date, through the eyes of an average English family living in Surrey. One son is an aviator, one a sailor and one a soldier—in fact all members of the family contribute in a large way to the wonderful spirit that England is showing in fighting for her life today.

Rowland's story is titled "The Battle of Britain" and what particularly interests me is that many of the most dramatic events of the war will be re-created. It will show the evacuation of Dunkirk, the bombings of London and present-day life in the tomb shelters. So far there is no cast or director—but if this picture packs one half of the terrific punch of "London Can Take It" it should be a box office sensation.

LOUIS FROMEFIELD came to town to judge a livestock show, of all things, and asked us to come to the Cleveland Hotel for a bite of supper. Louis told me he is just finishing "Storm Over Louisiana" on which Columbia has taken an option, having paid him $10,000. 'Tis a story of New Orleans during the Civil War. He said that he hoped that Carole Lombard would play the role of Olga in "Bombay Nights" since he had her in mind when he wrote the story. Louis lives near Mansfield, O., about 75 miles from Cleveland, on a farm, and he has taken five British children, friends of his own children, for the duration of the war. He says he has built a wing for them so they won't interfere with his writing.

PARAMOUNT and MGM are jousting. The trouble is that Para just announced the new title for "There's Always Juliet" will be "One Night in Lisbon" and not long ago Metro announced they had "Episode in Lisbon" for Bob Taylor and Hedy Lamarr. Both sides think there are "too many Lisbons." What surprises me is how the sentimental little "There's Always Juliet" (Originally set in London) ever happened to wind up in Lisbon anyway. Yes, of course, the answer is that Para has modernized the delightful play that starred Edna Best and Herbert Marshall and now it's to have a modern war background. Could the box office success of "Arise, My Love" have had anything to do with it?

NOW THAT RKO was successful in getting Michele Morgan out of France they're now trying to get Jean Gabin—who is to French fans what Gable-Taylor-and-Boyer combined are to American femmes. Miss Morgan and Jean made six pictures together in France—and this isn't the first time one of our major studios have made an effort to bring him here. One of the difficulties in the past was that Gabin does not speak English—but Miss Morgan says he has been studying our language intently for the past year—and who knows—perhaps he will be as lucky as she was in arranging her visa.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The Lin Howards (Judith Barrett) welcomed an eight-pound debutante at the Cedars of Lebanon which means that Lin won his bet from his brother, Bob Howard, that their baby would arrive before Bob's and Andrea Leeds'. Deanna Durbin is the first of a number of big Hollywood stars to accept Joseph Schenck's invitation to go to Washington for the President's Birthday Ball. Joe is the vice-chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

HINT TO OVERLY FLUMP LADIES: Jean Arthur thinks fencing is the best way to keep a streamlined figure; could Mickey Rooney have been serious when he said his heart belonged to Linda Darnell? He's been giving a big rush to Tina Thayer; Wayne Morris told friends at the Sky Room at the airport where he breakfasts with Pat Stewart every morning, that when his divorce is final he and Pat will wed; Cobina Wright, Jr., and Bob Stack who used to go together are making a habit of each other

What British Folk Need

Here are types of clothing needed by bombed, homeless civilians in England, as suggested by Robert W. Mortimore, chairman of the Greater Boston Committee of the British War Relief Society, Inc. It makes no difference whether the sizes are for babies, children, adults, so long as the donations are warm and serviceable.

Shoes, low or high, and boots.

Stockings and sox.

Underwear.

Woolen shirts.

Sweaters, long sleeved or sleeveless.

Suits, trousers, skirts, jackets, matched or unmatched.

Mackinaws, overcoats, topcoats, capes.

Caps, hats, stocking-caps (no women's fancy hats).

Mittens, gloves, wristers.

Mufflers (wool or flannel).

Nightclothing (wool or flannel).

Raincoats, rubbers, overshoes.

Blankets.

All kinds of baby woolen things.

(It is only stressed that new things are desirable, and if used articles are donated that they be cleaned or cleansed and pressed.)

Send your gifts for the "CHRISTMAS SHIP FOR ENGLAND" to 100 Summer st., Boston. Or leave them at your police or fire station.

AUCHINLECK INDIAN CHIEF

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. C. J. E. Auchinleck, commander of the southern division of the British army, was appointed commander-in-chief in India today. He will take the position early in 1941, succeeding Gen. Sir R. A. Cassels.

Lands in Orient For U. S. Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Several Harvard Law School professors, among them Dean M. Landis, have urged that the United State acquire or use British Oriental possessions thereby reducing Britain's war debt to this country.

In a letter to Senator King (D.) of Utah, the Harvard men also appealed for a complete embargo against Japan, remarking that Japan's efforts to establish its supremacy in the Far East might result, if successful, in the necessity of the United States maintaining a wartime military and naval establishment, the elimination of our foreign trade and the impossibility of the United States enforcing the Monroe Doctrine.

Those signing the letter were Warren A. Seavey, Landis, W. Barton Leach, Livingston Hall, Edon R. James, Edward S. Thurston, John M. Maguire, Sheldon Glueck, Austin W. Scott, James A. McLaughlin, A. James Casner, Philip W. Thayer, E. Merrick Dodd, George K. Gardner, Joseph Warren and Sam Bass Warner.

NAZI SPUDS FOR FRANCE

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—DNB, official German news agency, said today that Germany has agreed to supply 110,000,000 pounds of potatoes to France's civilian population.

task that confronts all in making this campaign a success.

Response throughout the six New England states has been encouraging - inspiring -thus far, but if the campaign is to achieve its goal there must be no let-up, no pause for breathing space.

The ship on which the cargo of winter garments will be loaded is going to leave these shores in a very short time. It is being provided through the British War Relief Society, Inc., whose Boston chairman, Robert W. Mortimore, heartily endorsed the Christmas Ship movement.

RELF AND HURRY!

Because of the war, neither the time nor the port of departure can be mentioned at this moment, but the slogan for this campaign well might be. Work, help and HURRY!

There is a dire need for clothing for babies, children, adults of both sexes in the bomb-ridden districts of London, Coventry, Birmingham, Southampton and other cities and towns throughout England which have been incessantly blasted from the air by Hitler's raiders.

Not one of the garments collected for a Christmas Ship for England will go to any but one of these civilian victims. This campaign is only for them, not for the military.

And the British War Relief Society has guaranted that within three days of the Chrismas Ship's docking in England, every pair of shoes, every garment will be distributed to a person in desperate need of these donations

Latest of the many organizations to enlist in the Christmas Ship campaign is the Boston Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which includes 5500 Scouts from Boston, Dedham, Dover, Westwood, Millis, Revere, Everett, Somerville, Chelsea and Brookline

SENDS MESSAGE

O. A. Kitterman, executive of the Boston Council, dispatched the following message to all troops in this body:

"In this special bulletin we are presenting you with an opportunity to come very close to your fellow leaders and fellow Scouts in Great Britain," the notice read. "This is a chance to do A Good Turn—and to do it in a vitally important way. As usual in Scouting there is nothing compulsory about it. We do recommend your assistance, however.

"Now—What is this Good Turn proposition?

"There is a 'Christmas Ship' which will leave for England in a week or two.

"The Christmas Ship will have clothing of all kinds; hats, coats, shoes, stockings, mufflers, underclothing, overcoats, topcoats, mackinaws, gloves, mittens—anything which will help keep a boy or a girl, a man or a woman warm, anything which will serve to protect bodily health during cold winter nights when there is no home to go to and air-raid shelters are made the night-time homes of millions."

A GOOD TURN

"Now then, during the week of Dec. 2 to 9—one full week of the calendar—Boston council will cooperate with other interested agencies in Doing A Good Turn for the British Relief Committee, through the goodwill and sponsorship of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

"This will take the form of every Cub, Scout and Senior Scout bringing to his unit, at the regular meeting time and place, any garment or piece of clothing he or his family, or his neighbor or friend, can contribute to this cause.

"We wish it to be a Council [illegible] Turn through every unit using of it a Troop or Pack or [illegible] or Crew Good Turn. After collection, the Leader should [illegible] a Service Patrol whose [illegible] it will be to take the clothing [illegible] the nearest police or fire sta[illegible]."

[illegible]ST BE CLEAN

[illegible]e Boy Scouts were informed [illegible] every piece of clothing must be [illegible]lean and serviceable condition. [illegible]eed be laundered or cleansed [illegible]re contributed, otherwise the [illegible]th authorities will not accept [illegible]m for shipment.

[illegible]he Scouts joined an ever-in[illegible]creasing army of volunteer workers [illegible]f the Christmas Ship for Eng[illegible]d, the headquarters of which [illegible]at 100 Summer st., with receiving stations throughout New England.

Other recruits were members of Eastland Post No. 291, A. L., and their Auxiliary of Lynn, which voted heavily support to the Christmas Ship and appointed a committee, headed by John Aysles, to gather clothing.

The Christmas Ship campaign is progressing steadily toward its goal, but time is short and more gifts are needed in order to make it [illegible]ssible. Send your gift to Christmas Ship headquarters, 100 Summer st., telephone what hours and days you will be there. Or call Liberty 2048, 2564 2085.

F. D. Plans Trip, May Fly Back

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he is planning to leave the capital next week on a defense inspection tour and while he refused to disclose his destination it was learned on good authority that it would probably take him to the West Indies and the Caribbean sea.

In announcing his tour, Mr. Roosevelt said that should any emergency arise he would fly back to Washington.

Whatever is the ultimate destination of the President's trip, it was expected to take him beyond the 12-hour limit in rail travel that he has imposed upon himself since the international situation became acute. It was also learned on good authority that the tour involves the Navy.

The Atlantic patrol is going to maneuver in the Caribbean next week and it is reported that Mr. Roosevelt may watch the maneuvers from the island of Culebra 35 miles off the coast of Puerto Rico.

When he announced that he would have facilities with him which would enable him to get back to the capital quickly meaning planes, questioners at his press conference asked if facilities meant navy flying boats and the President answered it meant he could have all kinds of facilities.

SOVIET ENVOY IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (INS) — Russia's newly-appointed ambassador to Germany, Deputy People's Commissar V. G. Dekanosov, arrived in Berlin

BRITISH BLAST AXIS SHIPS IN FIGHTS

nel with thus far unspecified damage to the fleeing German craft—apparently destroyers or smaller craft—and admitted damage to one British ship.

Bombed Port Laki, on the island of Leros, in the nest of the Italian-held Dodecanese Islands in the eastern Mediterranean, where fires were set in the waterfront area, and a vessel, probably a warship, was attacked.

Bombed the port of Tripoli, in Italian Libya, where another ship was hit and fires started which were visible 60 miles away.

ITALIAN STORY OF FIGHT

By Italian acknowledgment, British planes also struck at the naval bases of Brindisi and Taranto, on the heel of the Italian boot, but according to the Rome communique, "dropped explosive and incendiary bombs only near Brindisi, where they fell in open country and the sea."

The totalitarian side of this picture offered identification of the 35,000-ton battleship claimed by the British to have been torpedoed in the battle off Sardinia as the new Vittorio Veneto, but the official Italian news agency Stefani declared the Vittorio Veneto "dodged" the only aerial torpedo launched at it. Stefani went on to say that only a destroyer was damaged and two British cruisers of the Kent and Birmingham types damaged by eight-inch shell and forced to flee.—Editor's Note.

Of today's battle in the English channel, the admiralty said:

"In the early hours of this morning contact was made in the English channel between our light forces and those of the enemy.

"The enemy units retired at high speed towards Brest, pursued by our forces. It is known that one of our units sustained damage.

"A report has been received that damage was inflicted upon the enemy, but the extent of this is not yet known with sufficient certainty to enable an announcement to be made.

"Further details will be made known as soon as possible."

CLAIM TRANSPORT SUNK

The Italian high command communique which reported yesterday one British battleship, three cruisers and an aircraft carrier were damaged and seven British planes shot down in the Sardinia engagement, made no mention of the battle today, but reported the submarine Marconi had sunk a 10,000-ton British transport in the Atlantic.

Other claims of the Italian high command:

A square hit by a heavy caliber bomb on "a big warship" of a formation pursued and attacked near Malta by the Italian air arm;

Destruction of five British planes at a cost of serious damage to two and loss of one Italian plane in "violent battles" marking this assault on the British warships, and Subsequent bombardment last night of Valletta, Port of Malta, British strong point in mid-Mediterranean.

Germany outlined her own participation in the naval warfare as follows, in part apparently referring to the engagement in which the British reported routing "Axis" forces in the channel:

"German destroyers undertook a thrust toward the western exit of the English channel close to the English coast," said the Berlin communique.

ITALIAN FLEET WRECKED?

"A skirmish developed with an English destroyer. We succeeded in torpedoing two enemy destroyers. Other German destroyers sank two steamers of 9000 and 3000 tons, in addition to two smaller enemy vessels on the English south coast."

The British, acknowledging slight damage to the 10,000-ton cruiser Berwick and loss of seven men from two Italian hits in the battle off Sardinia, joyously claimed that the Italian battle fleet had been wrecked as a result of the engagement and the Armistice Day bombardment at Taranto.

By British reckoning now Italy's two newest and biggest battleships, the 35,000-ton Littorio, hit at Taranto, and the Vittorio Veneto have been knocked out or so damaged as to be useless for some time.

Two of Italy's four other battleships, of the 23,000-ton Cavour class, were reported crippled at Taranto, the British claim photographic proof of this.

The British claim they reported the Sardinia battle with reserve.

Italy Claims Only Destroyer Damaged

ROME, Nov. 29 (AP)—Italy's new 35,000-ton battleship, Vittorio Veneto, warded off torpedoes from British planes in Wednesday's sea battle off Sardinia and only a destroyer was damaged, Stefani, official Italian news agency, asserted today.

Fascist warships went in pursuit of a British naval squadron escorting a convoy, the agency declared, and stopped fighting only when the British sped out of range, with two of their cruisers, of the Kent and Birmingham types, damaged by eight-inch shells.

The British account said the English ships did the chasing.—Editor's note.

The high command claimed today that an Italian submarine had sunk a 10,000-ton British transport in the Atlantic.

Italian naval and air formations bombarded the island of Corfu with destructive effect and Fascist bombers subjected Greek positions on the Albanian front to heavy attack yesterday, the daily war bulletin said.

It also reported that British planes again attempted to bomb the Taranto naval base and Brindisi but heavy anti-aircraft fire prevented them from dropping bombs, it said, except near Brindisi. Those missiles, the high command said, fell in open country or the sea.

A big British warship was reported hit by a heavy bomb in an Italian air bombardment of British naval formations near Malta.

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—German destroyers torpedoed two British destroyers and sank four other vessels in an attack close to the English coast at the western end of the English Channel, returning unscathed to their bases after a battle with British destroyers, informed Germans declared today.

The sunken vessels, they said, included one of 9000 tons, another of 3000 tons and two smaller craft.

The same quarters reported that several hundred bombers wrought havoc last night in Liverpool. Grain silos and docks were the main objectives of the night-long raids, they said, but details were lacking.

Liverpool Bombed By 200 Nazi Planes

return flight of 1200 to 1400 miles. For this reason, the Germans used the heaviest bombers that have appeared over Britain in weeks.

Dispatches from Berlin said that German air force crews returning from Liverpool reported that grain store houses, oil depots, drydocks, fuel tanks and aircraft plants extending for miles along the river Mersey in the Liverpool area were ablaze. These reports said running attacks were carried out for hours against Liverpool and that tremendous conflagrations resulted. —Editor's note.

The night in London was relatively quiet as the Nazis concentrated on the Liverpool and Merseyside region. After a lengthy lull in the capital the all-clear signal sounded at 4 a.m.

A second town in the Merseyside area also suffered its most severe raid of the war and a third town in northwestern England was heavily hit.

An air ministry communique reported "considerable enemy activity" throughout the country during the night, but said the main weight of the raids was directed against the Merseyside, where "a number of fires were started, some serious," and a large number of houses and other buildings were damaged.

ISOLATED POINTS HIT

Bombs also were dropped on a large number of isolated points in the southern half of England, the air ministry communique stated.

This afternoon R. A. F. fighters engaged and drove off a formation of four Nazi planes approaching London from the Thames estuary.

The single German planes approached the London area at terrific altitudes. Anti-aircraft batters took occasional pot-shots at them, but there were no reports of any new bombings.

Bombs were dropped on South London and several other points in England tonight during Germany's nightly series of air raids. During the early hours of the raiding little damage and but few casualties were reported.

Marine Corps Chief Renamed by President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt today renominated Maj.-Gen. Thomas Holcomb to be commandant of the Marine Corps for another four-year period.

It was the second time in the history of the Marine Corps that a commandant was renominated. Usually new commandants are named every four years.

2 GERMAN SHIPS FLEE TAMPICO

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 29 (AP)—The German merchantmen Idarwald and Rhein steamed southward out of Tampico today on their second attempt to leave their haven here to slip through the British blockade to Europe.

In Mexico City it was reported both British and Canadian warships in the Caribbean were under orders to intercept the ships, which apparently were trying to enter the Caribbean via the Yucatan peninsula.

The freighters were followed [illegible] coast about four miles from shore. Fanned around the [illegible] were three [illegible] warships [illegible] distan to be identified, but believed to be United States [illegible] craft.

To the southeast was another warship, reported to be the Mexican gunboat Durango charged with escorting the freighters out of territorial waters.

The Idarwald ran aground on a sandbar earlier in the day outside the harbor, but refloated herself.

To pass the Yucatan peninsula and reach the Caribbean for escape into the Atlantic, the ships must alter their courses sharply to the east, passing the peninsula probably under cover of darkness.

The 5033-ton Idarwald entered the open sea, sailing eastward, at 8:19 a. m., while the 6031-ton Rhein followed several miles in her wake. They had found haven here since early in the war.

RAF Bombs U-Boat Plants

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—British bombers struck last night at German plants producing the submarines which prey on Britain's shipping, the air ministry disclosed today.

The submarine shipbuilding yard at Stettin, on the Baltic sea, and a factory at Mannheim which turns out U-boat engines were chief targets of the R. A. F.'s thrusts into Germany, the ministry's news service reported.

It asserted that the bombers made a round trip of 1300 miles in the raid on Stettin and on a synthetic oil plant at Politz.

Bombs Damage 36 Churches Near Liverpool

LONDON, Nov. 29 (INS)—The Bishop of Liverpool disclosed today that his city's famous modern cathedral, the largest church in England, was damaged in recent German air raids.

Two other churches were destroyed, he said. Eighty-six additional ecclesiastical buildings, including 33 churches, were damaged in his diocese.

Women Kill Italian Troops With Rocks

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 29 (AP)—An "Amazon company" of Macedonian peasant women who helped the Greek army defeat 3000 Italian troops by rolling rocks down upon them from the peaks of the Pindus mountains was described today in a Greek dispatch from the Epirus front.

More than 100 women were reported by a Greek correspondent to have followed a Greek army column, against the orders of an officer, and to have helped the soldiers fight.

The correspondent quoted one middle-aged farm woman, Helen Codjamani, who was wounded in the fighting, as telling him:

"A sergeant who passed through our village wanted to know the way to the chapel of St. George. We told him and when he started off about 100 women took the trail after him.

"When he neared the chapel, we saw many Greek soldiers. When the officer saw us, he got very angry and ordered us to go back, but we started shouting, 'We shall not go back. We want to fight with you.'

"Since they wouldn't give us guns, we got hold of an ammunition magazine and french mortors, and we followed the soldiers to the high peaks.

"During the night other women joined us. We didn't lose a single minute, and when night fell our troops had occupied all summits and we were now waiting. We women took our places on the plateau of a mountain called Pournara.

"Next morning at 10 o'clock, Italians appeared in a ravine below us. Our soldiers let them advance. When about 3000 enemies thus entered the gorge, our soldiers started shooting. I cannot describe what followed.

"The Italians began to scatter and ran in all directions. Then we went into action and appeared at the extremity of the mountain and began throwing stones on the invaders.

"That was a terrible shower. When the sun set in the ravine there was not a single Italian alive."

British, Greeks Blast Italians

into Albania against air, sea and land resistance.

The Greek command reported Italian air attacks "on some points of the front" and widespread raids behind the lines.

"A considerable number of enemy aircraft was shot down," it said, but gave no figures.

Six Italian destroyers were reported to have shelled rural districts on the north coast of the island of Corfu, in the Adriatic off the Greek-Albanian coast, but to have fled under cover of a smoke screen when Greek warplanes appeared.

Greek information from the front suggested that defeat of an Italian "regiment of death"—picked Fascists sworn to die rather than retreat—may have been greater than at first reported and that the Italians may be in full flight up the coast.

This front, in the region of Argirocastro, Italy's last gasp main advanced base which the Greeks have been threatening, admittedly was the center of the "most serious resistance" and it was acknowledged that the Italians still were counter-attacking at some points.

There was no indication of the fate of Argirocastro or other towns in the path of the Greek advance.

Student Riots Close Paris Universities

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (INS)—The famed Sorbonne and other universities in Paris have been "suspended temporarily" as a penalty for student riots which occurred on Armistice Day, it was disclosed in Berlin today.

Scores of French students participated in the demonstrations before being dispersed. A number were arrested.

Saved by a Miracle!

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"My country, 'tis of thee —
"Sweet land of liberty,
"Of thee I sing!

Nice tune. Nice words. But do you know what they're all about? Do you know what modern Americanism really means, or the quality and direction of our 1940 brand of liberty?

You think you know. You're chockful of patriotic quotations and streamlined surveys. And you're confident that America will come out on top, no matter what hits her.

All right, go on kidding yourself, if you wish. But take it from me, stranger—in the slangology of the Old West, "You're just breeding a scab on your nose." For it's dollars to doughnuts that you've no more conception of what modern American and Americans are really up to, than a stuffed owl.

And unless you get wised up pronto, you and I and all the other dizzy dopes who think we know the answers are going to get the shellackin' of our lives.

ALL OF WHICH is by way of introduction to one of the most honest and truthful books that ever hit our Yankee complacency right square on the button. "ROUTE 28," written by Ward Greene, published by Doubleday Doran.

"Route 28" is the story of a New Jersey highway and the people who travel it. It is the story of today's America . . . . of an America that lives on wheels, eats at Bar-B-Q's, gets plastered at Pete's or Tony's, and sleeps wherever the car stops. That does not sound nice. It is not nice. But the simple, deadly truth is that the larger part of our highly publicized American life isn't nice either.

Here is the picture of a land that has lost its original plan and purpose—and doesn't know it. For years you've watched that change going on without analyzing it. Tourist camps (with trick entrances) going up where the Grammar School and the Congregational Church used to stand. The places that used to be "beyond the tracks" moving into Main Street, brawling and breeding under the lovely elms. For years you've watched, without thinking of the pay-off. Just taking it for granted that everything was jake.

Well, it wasn't jake—and the pay-off is here. Here, along "Route 28," is the America that has moved in, sprawled over the land our fathers knew. Here, as though lifted with a scalpel, are the naked thoughts of people who have gone bawdy and brutal, lazy, indifferent and cock-eyed with conceit, while stoutly believing they are "good old American stuff." As you and I believe!

For, watching the delicate, terrible precision of their vivisection, it dawns on you, unescapably, that this demoralization is You and I . . . ourselves as we are . . . God forgive us!

YET, for all its ugliness, there is beauty and promise in "Route 28." The old, good things that once made America what she was—faith, truth, courage and kindliness—are not completely gone.

They still wait, in many a quiet corner and many a faithful heart, until the viciousness which smears them has been swept away.

A great sermon, without one preachy word . . . a passionate plea for rebirth . . . done into a story that should be Compulsory Reading on every defence program. A swell American Job!

It's little wonder that we who know and love the man who did it are a bit giddy with pride.

Turkey Shortcake--Why Not Try It With Leftovers?

By MARTHA LEE

What is it that we don't hate or even mildly dislike as a leftover? Right—roast turkey! Whether sliced cold, creamed, made into hash, or in its final triumph of vegetable laden soup, turkey always finds a responsive chord. "Leftovers" sound unattractive, but curtain calls give a new and exciting finish to the Thanksgiving bird.

Every last morsel can be used in a turkey shortcake garnished with hard-cooked fresh eggs:

TURKEY SHORTCAKE

1 tbsp butter
1 tbsp. flour
½ cup milk
¼ cup left-over gravy
2 cups diced cooked turkey
Few grains pepper

Melt butter, blend in the flour. Add milk, cook, stirring until thick. Blend in the gravy. Add turkey, salt and pepper. Serve on fresh, hot individual shortcakes and garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs. Or serve between crisp waffles for the dramatic effect.

Gobbler soup is delicious when made from the bones of a roast turkey, well seasoned and blended with cream of mushroom soup

GOBBLER SOUP

1 carrot
1 stalk celery
Bones of 1 roast turkey
1½ qts. cold water
2 slices onion
4 tbsp. rice
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
Sliced Brazil nuts

Slice carrot, chop celery. Combine with turkey bones, water and onion slices. Cover, simmer 2 hours. Strain. Wash rice, and cook in stock until tender. Combine with mushroom soup which has been mixed as directed on cans. Heat. Garnish with nuts.

Turkey au Gratin sandwiches would be grand for Sunday night. Make sandwiches from well buttered bread, using thin slices of turkey. Toast them and place in a shallow pan. Over the sandwiches pour a white or cream sauce which has been blended with gravy. Sprinkle with grated cheese and place in oven just long enough to be heated through and melt the cheese. Serve with a molded cranberry and celery salad, and top off with cookies that are not related to the Thanksgiving desserts—Chocolate Sticks—and a hot drink.

CHOCOLATE STICKS

4 fresh eggs
1 lb. brown sugar
1 cup almonds
¼ lb. sweet chocolate
2 ounces citron
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. allspice
¼ tsp. cloves
3 cups flour
1 tsp baking powder

Beat eggs and sugar until light add spices and the chocolate grated. Blanch almonds and chop, cut citron fine, mix with flour and baking powder and combine the two mixtures. Roll on a floured board, cut into strips 3½ inches long and place on a buttered pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

What to do with other leftovers, odd bits of vegetables and the like is another story. Maybe you've envied those ingenious souls who throw together all sorts of unusual foods and bring to the table an unforgettable dish. They always seem to know how and when to make luscious with butter, or light with eggs, and just how much of what seasoning

BAKED VEGETABLE LOAF

1½ cups diced potatoes
2 cups leftover vegetables
4 tbsp. green pepper
4 tbsp. onion
1 cup bread crumbs
¼ cup melted butter
1-3 cup beef stock
1 egg
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ cup molasses
3 eggs (to be used as garnish)

Prepare and cook the potatoes. Then chop them together coarsely with the leftover vegetables (carrots, peas, beans, etc.), green pepper and onion. Add bread crumbs, butter, beef stock, beaten egg, seasonings and molasses. Mix thoroughly. Turn into an oiled loaf pan and bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) 1 hour. Garnish with slices of hard cooked eggs or mushroom sauce. Makes 6 servings.

For Christmas Giving

THERE'S NOTHING that's more appreciated for a Christmas gift than a really nice hostess coat . . . one that strikes a happy medium, and isn't bath-robey or too chichi . . . and so we consider this a find. Also a grand suggestion to start off your "day after Thanksgiving" shopping-in-earnest. First off, it's only $10.95! It's the Saybury-designed "Pick Pocket" of crepe romaine, all a-glitter with gold embroidery . . . and very, very handsome. A Boston shop is featuring it in sizes 12-20, in lush blue, green or red. It has a zipper front, bow-tie belt, and wonderful hip pockets. For shopping information, phone our Fashion and Beauty Department, LIBerty 4000, or write.—ANNICE BRINK.

44 Three Ages of Beauty' Exercises--Budget System

By ARLINE GOULD

HERE'S NEWS about budgeting for beauty . . and since budgeting requires System with a capital S, the ingenious creator of these ideas has divided all us women into three "ages" . . . and tells us that for 3 to 10 cents per day we can keep our looks dazzlingly pampered . . . and then she is even more helpful still!

She devises a set of two exercises for each of these three ages . . . and she says that with these exercises you can live in any part of the world, luxuriously or thriftily, but you'll still keep your figure, your grace and an undeniable claim to a young look. They're basic "three ages of beauty" exercises . . . and we've snitched them for you, and a copy is awaiting you.

This is the way the classification goes . . . so pick your alley, and bowl for a high score in beauty . . . First, the "Careless Age," or schooling years. This gal can use necessary corrective and future-beauty insurance aids, total 3c per day.

Second, the "Age of Responsibility," the young woman between 25 and 40, who needs exercise to keep her from spreading out of proportion, here and there. She can ward off the fatigued or premature-aged look and get the most radiance out of her looks . . . for 5c per day.

It's going up . . . the third age, "Age of Achievement," the youthful person of 40 onward . . . needs cosmetics that eradicate and tone . . . and she needs exercises that limber and relax. She can do very luxurious things for skin, for 10c per day.

If you'd like to find out where you can get complete information, without charge on this idea of "budgeting beauty" . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end. For your copy of the exercises for the "Three Ages of Beauty," all included in one sheet, write her, care of this paper, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SKIING LECTURE AT JUNIOR LEAGUE

The season's first snowfall came just in time to stimulate great interest in the skiing lecture to be held at the Junior League next Tuesday evening. John C. Jay's technicolor movie of skiing at famous resorts from the Andes Mountains to the Canadian Rockies, will be shown.

Among the many winter sports fans planning to attend both the lecture and the buffet supper beforehand are Mrs. Alexander Vance, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilbur, Miss Priscilla Thorndike, Miss Rachael Brooks, Mrs. Charles H. Jones, Miss Barbara Grinnell, Miss Peggy Dewey and Miss Alice Ware.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Friday, Nov. 29

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Spirited, rather self-sufficient in outlook. Be more careful in money matters. Capable of noteworthy success if you develop your natural talents and learn self-control and an appreciation of the true values of life. Stand up with faith to arising difficulties and responsibilities. See clearly, judge calmly. Concentrate your efforts into a steady tempo rather than lend them to enthusiastic spurts. Improve your bright mind.

Yuletide Gift For Her Boss?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Is it necessary that a waitress in a cafe give her boss, who is unmarried and middle-aged, a Christmas gift? I've always exchanged gifts with other employers, but then there was a wife and we were all good friends, and gave each other presents. Would it be all right to accept a little remembrance if he gave it to me? He would be glad to go with me, but I don't care for hi mand don't want to encourage him.

UNDECIDED.

If you don't care about encouraging the attentions of the boss, better not give him anything more than a card at Christmas.

The circumstances of your former position were entirely different. You were friendly with the boss' wife and all of you exchanged gifts. Your present job is different, and from your letter, the attentions of the boss would be unwelcome.

Many proprietors give Christmas remembrances to all their employees. If that's customary in this restaurant, it would be ungracious to refuse to accept the gift.

Leslie Blake, Fiance Feted

THANKSGIVING TURNED out to be a doubly happy day for Leslie Blake, Dedham post deb . . . In the morning her engagement was announced to Thomas A. Bittenbender and when the phone rang early she thought someone was calling to extend best wishes . . . Instead, it was the East Taunton police calling to say that her Irish setter, Pat, which had been lost a couple of weeks, had been found and was waiting for some member of the family to drive out to get him . . .

Pat was happy to be back in his own home for Thanksgiving and had a chance to become acquainted with his new future master at an informal cocktail party which Leslie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blake, gave for the engaged couple yesterday afternoon . . . The wedding will take place in January . . .

Nancy Holdsworth Weds Today

NANCY HOLDSWORTH, who has a talent for the unusual, is wearing pale gray satin instead of the traditional ivory for her marriage to Edwin Stotesbury Hutchinson of Philadelphia, in Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel this afternoon . . .

The attractive dark-haired bride daughter of Mrs. F. Harvey Hilton of Framingham Centre, has studied art in Paris and Gloucester and three years ago cruised around the world on the yacht Yankee with Captain and Mrs. Irving Johnson . . . She made her debut in 1934-35 and belongs to the Junior League . . .

With her gray gown she is wearing a darker gray tulle veil and carrying white orchids and cyclamen . . . Her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Hatcher of Atlanta, Ga., is the matron of honor and Jean McCreary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McCreary of Watertown, flower girl . . . Mrs. Hatcher's gown of two-tone gray velveteen is enhanced by a headdress and bouquet of yellow flowers and Jean is wearing yellow velveteen with frilled white organdie at the neck and hem . . . She is carrying a bouquet of marguerites to match the wreath in her hair . . .

Hill-McGuire Ceremony

At a small family wedding Thanksgiving morning Miss Esther McGuire of Arlington became the bride of Henry Bixby Hill, son of Professor and Mrs. Edward Burlingame Hill of Cambridge.

The nine o'clock ceremony was performed in St. Paul's Church, Cambridge, by Rt. Rev. Augustin Hickey. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, John C. McGuire, wore a period gown of ivory satin with a tulle veil attached to an old fashioned lace and tulle headdress. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid marker and a shower of gardenia buds tied to white ribbons.

Mrs. Laurence P. Harrington of Arlington, sister of the bride, was the only attendant. She wore a gown of green and gold brocade with a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and gold snapdragon.

Following the ceremony members of the families gathered for a wedding breakfast at Old House, Lexington.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McGuire of Cambridge, attended Miss Lesley's kindergarten school. Mr. Hill, whose father is a well known composer and professor of music at Harvard, prepared at Noble and Greenough and graduated from Harvard in 1930. His brother, George E. B. Hill, a top ranking local figure skater, was best man. He was married last September to the formeer Leslie Eustis of Chestnut Hill.

The newlyweds will return from a honeymoon in the South in time for Christmas and will make their home in Francistown, N. H.

Anne Lyman Makes Debut

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lyman, Jr., of Dudley st., Brookline, presented their debutante daughter, Anne Lyman, at a tea dance at The Country Club Thanksgiving afternoon.

The petite dark haired debutante wore a gown of green silk jersey with a pink underskirt as she received with her mother, whose gown was fashioned of brown and pink crepe.

Wears Stunning Gowns at Loew's

By PEGGY DOYLE

Miss Hollywood than Coward is Metro's current revival of the delightful Broadway stage hit of a decade ago, "Bitter Sweet," which brings those perennial lovebirds, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy to Loew's State and Orpheus screens in a sumptuous test of technicolor.

It does have Noel Coward's haunting score but the plot has been changed and complicated to liveup to an extravagantly lavish production.

You may recall that the original operetta, a lovely and fragile thing, had to do with an aged English woman tenderly reminiscing upon a girlhood romance with her music master in Vienna.

In the Lesser Samuel-Director W. S. Van Dyke II version, the prologue and epilogue have been dispensed with, the music master has been elevated to composer, the two marry and, after he has been killed in a cafe duel with a monocled nigler, she sin her dead husband's operetta with fantastic success.

To make up in part to Eddy's idolatrous fans for killing him off, his ghost emerges from a cloud in the fadeout and he joins the widowed Jeanette in a duet. Just as shadowy and pallid, it seems to us, is the romance between these two. The warmth and charm that characterized the stage-show love idyll is completely lacking. Miss MacDonald and Eddy pursue their love affair with routine stolidity, she with accustomed persistent vivacity and he with a lackluster eye and complete boredom.

And the MacDonald such a gorgeous thing! Technicolor was invented for her, with her glorious red hair, cornflower-blue eyes and peaches-and-cream complexion. Defying the "must" that redheads avoid red, she looks enchanting in a red velvet traveling costume.

In the "Zigeuner" number the brown-and-white sequence that is probably the most admired technicolor effect yet screened her matchless coloring is set off by the loveliest white hoop-skirted dress with brown trimmings and a stunning brown and white headdress. There have been some complaints from fault-finders that bustles and polonaises were not worn in that period, Vienna, 1891. Be that as it may, there's no fault to find with the way Miss MacDonald wears 'em

Nor could the most captious be even vaguely dissatisfied with the singing of the picture's co-stars, which they do frequently and excellently. All the Coward operetta favorites have been retained, including previously mentioned "Zigeuner," "Tokay," "Little Cafe," "I'll See You Again," and "The Call of Life."

The companion picture, "Kit Carson," is a fairly accurate record of the lusty Carson saga with Jon Hall playing the title role.

Met's 'North West Mounted' Colorful, Thrilling Epic

By PEGGY DOYLE

The red-coats have come to the Met screen but, eye-taking as they are in the grayed aquamarine smoke of battle, once Texas Ranger Gary Cooper, in his paler buckskins and ten-gallon millinery, lopes on to the scene Cecil B. DeMille's technicolored "North West Mounted Police" is his.

Producer-Director DeMille, who has managed to hit the jackpot innumerable times for Paramount throughout the ye again comes through with a picture that combines boxoffice and entertainment in a heady blend.

"Northwest Mounted Police" is a handsome colorful outdoor production based on an historically recorded revolt against the Canadian government back in 1885 by the Metis, a half-breed tribe. It was virtually a civil war which would have split Canada had it not been for the bravery of 500 red-coated mounties.

It is hardly a private fight and the hard-riding Texas ranger gets into it by way of a warrant he aims to serve on George Bancroft. He is a murderer who has fled to Canada and is even then trying to persuade the Cree Indians to join the Metis.

His persuader is a Gatling gun, which by the way, is tame compared to the spitfirish Paulette ("She Who Gets Spanked") Goddard's wild Indian girl, Louvette. She is Bancroft's daughter and as pretty a package of duplicity as you'll find in all Hollywood.

She proves it by tricking her Mountie sweetheart into a cabin, where he is set upon by Indians, instead of relaying his sister's (Madeleine Carroll) message that the Metis have planned an ambush at Batoche for the Mounted and that he must warn the others.

The Mounties ride into the ambush to the barking fire of Bancroft's Catling and a thousand Metis snipers. It is all in the best DeMille and North West Mounted traditions, with technicolor lending added drama to this stunning epic.

One of the picture's finest jobs of acting is Lynne Overman's tam-o'-shantered Scot, Tod McDuff. Another praiseworthy performance is Walter Hampden's Chief Big Bear, who had to change the color of his eyes because there are no blue-eyed Indians. (Give up? He thought up the idea of having brown "pupils" etched into a pair of invisible glasses . . . for $500).

The companion picture the Jane Withers-starring "Youth Will Be Served," keeps Charles Holland on the Loew's screen for a third week. Remember him in "Hullabaloo," teamed with "Escape" the past couple weeks? The southern field-hand again trots off with the picture singing his fish-peddler songs.

Peppy, New Dance Stars Headline Globe's Smart Bill

The Globe's burlesque lineup this week is All-American. Peppy Marcia Eloise and Eleanor Sheridan presenting the very last syllable in this country's star-spangled dancing and Margaret Gibson, Phyllis Vaughn and Jannett James, introducing the newest dance steps in the South American way.

The 30 Bernardolls have as their featured dance ensembles two specialties imported from Buenos Aires.

Comedy in the new show is handled by Joe DeRita, local favorite. Assisting him are Charles Naples, Floyd Halliey, Bruce Norman, Harry Ryan and Irving Benson.

Vaudeville headliners include Betty and Dunn, dancers, and Myrt, illusionist. Screen features are "Honeymoon in Bali," co-starring Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll, and "Alleghany Uprising," with John Wayne and Claire Trevor.

The regular Friday midnight show will be a gala affair this week.

Kay Kyser Leads His Crew to New Heights at Memorial

By PEGGY DOYLE

As crammed with good things as your Thanksgiving board is the new Kay Kyser picture, "You'll Find Out," which ushered in the holiday at Keith-Memorial and turned out to be riotously funny.

An irresistible blend of mystery, music and merriment, it kept the audience alternately shivering and shouting throughout its unreeling. Of a certainty, this box-office surething should be cause for thanksgiving every day this week on the part of the satisfied management.

Kyser, who has learned a lot about acting before the camera since his first picture, "That's Right, You're Wrong," plays himself in the picture. And so do the boys of the orchestra and Ginny Simms, the outfit's featured vocalist who has picked up gobs of glamour since last we met at a local personal appearance.

The screen's shiver-and shake artists, Bela Lugosi, Boris Karloff and Peter Lorre, are at their sinister best as the villians who are concentrated upon erasing the beautiful Helen Parrish before she reaches her majority and falls heir to her father's wealth.

Their plans are moving along smoothly until the bandleader whose orchestra is playing for Helen's 21st birthday party arrives at the old, museum-like mansion and sniffs skullduggery. With the assistance of Dennis O'Keefe and his suddenly discovered beagle instinct, Ol' Perfesser Kyser unearths the secret paraphernalia Lugosi's seance-throwing Prince Saliano is using for his mermerizing effects.

But that is only the beginning of as chilling and chortling a time as you'll have until 1941.

David Butler, who doubled as producer-director as well as aiding on the script, rates laurels on all three counts. The picture is paced at a fast clip, with never a comedy situation muffed, a truly command business for you who like to laugh while you're frost bitt.

In no sense a "second picture" is Ernest Toller's first-rate story of Nazi Germany, "Pastor Hall."

LIEUTENANT MALDEN was hatless, and obviously in need of a shave. Over a once-white jersey, he wore an old and badly rumpled coat. He was smoking a pipe.

"What," he said, between puffs, "brings you into my dull world at this romantic hour? Surely they have shelters nearer Downing Street."

"Your world?"

"Come," he said, "don't pretend. You know my laboratory's in the next row. I know—you couldn't live without me any longer, and you were coming to see me. Only the air raid, unfortunately, saved you the trouble."

"To be sure," agreed Brinda, eyeing his sweater, "And you were on your way home from the opera. Or was it a navy ball?"

"You win," said Dick, his eyes twinkling. "I'll tell you the truth. I ran out of my favorite blend, and I was just replenishing it with a very inferior one at a nearby shop when the siren went off. I didn't want to quarrel with the A. R. P., so I dashed in here to frustrate Adolf's bombers. Now, it's your turn, and I hope you can be as frank."

His tone, his words, and, most of all, the oil jersey and torn coat took Brinda back to the old days at Miss Cartwright's. He seemed all schoolboy again, instead of the young naval officer and serious inventor. She could scarcely believe that anything had changed; it was more as if they had slipped out from their respective schools for one of their rare rendezvous. They had a corner to themselves in the small but secure shelter.

"Haven't I always been frank?" she answered. "I was at Prince Vaslav's, and he was good enough to send me home in his car. Then the air warden stopped me. And so I landed here."

"Vaslav's!" Dick's voice underwent a subtle change. "And he sent you home in his car?"

Principal Characters in Today's Chapter

BRINDA, daughter of Mata Hari, notorious spy and ward of British Intelligence Chief.

PRINCE VASLAV, mysterious Russian nobleman who may be a Nazi spy.

DICK MALDEN, Brinda's childhood sweetheart, who still loves her although he is engaged to another girl.

MATA HARI'S Daughter

By MAURICE DEKOBRA and LEYLA GEORGIE

"Yes. Why not?"

"Why—why—I don't suppose—Of course, I noticed he was attentive to you. Nice enough chap, too. Still—confound it—he's not nice enough for you!"

Brinda experienced a moment of sheer rapture. There was no mistaking it, Dick was jealous!

"HE IS NICE"

"He is nice," she said demurely. Then, a little contrite at his downcast look; "but I had a special reason for being at his house. It was a rehearsal of the ballet in which he wants me to dance."

"And are you going to?"

"Perhaps it would keep Sandy from sending me away. But Dick, suppose Prince Vaslav and I should hit it off — you wouldn't mind, would you?"

"Yes," he said gloomily, "I would. I'd mind a whole lot."

"But how strange! You don't seem to object to his fussing over Gladys."

Dick looked miserable. "To tell you the truth, I don't. Especially since I found you again."

"And yet you're going to marry Gladys. Why?"

"No use asking, Brinda. I don't even know how we happened to become engaged. First, it was Lord Mountwyn—he was interested in my invitation, and I had to have someone to finance it. Naturally I saw a lot of Gladys, and then somehow it was understood we were going to get married. I don't know—you remember, I really was rather gone on her once, and I thought she liked me. But I get the impression lately that she wouldn't mind breaking it off."

"In that event, Lord Mountwyn would withdraw his support, wouldn't he?"

"Let him!" said Dick. "I'll manage some way."

Outside there was the wail of an ambulance racing through the street. And just then the air warden poked his head inside the shelter. "Looks like it's quiet again!" he announced cheerily.

Dick and Brinda emerged. She saw that Vaslav's car was still there, but the chauffeur was not at the wheel.

"Your man was here a couple of minutes ago," said the warden. "Then some fellow stopped and spoke to him. Likely they've gone for a drink."

"Good enough!" exclaimed Dick. "Let him go. We'll stop at my lab a moment, and I'll take you home in a cab myself. Vaslav can keep his cursed car."

"But I just can't leave the man waiting," protested Brinda.

"I'll attend to that," volunteered the air warden.

Brinda matched her step to Dick's obscurely and unaccountably gay.

"Here we are!" said Malden, as they approached a squatish, unadorned building with iron bars across the street windows. "You can look things over while—"

There was a sudden, terrific, rending blast. Brinda saw a great sheet of yellow flame rise in the air. There was a grating, heavy roar, a clatter of breaking glass and falling slate. The air trembled.

"My laboratory!" Dick exclaimed. He started running in the direction of the blast. "Go back to the car!"

Brief, deep silence followed the explosion. For a moment Brinda stood gazing after Lieut. Malden's vanishing figure. Poor Dick! She remembered it was fear of precisely this that had brought him to Sir John's office the day after Kinley's murder.

Should she follow? Or would she only be in the way? As she hesitated, she saw Prince Vaslav's chauffeur standing beside the car, his hand on the open door. He looked toward her expectantly, and his pose expressed a kind of dogged impatience. On impulse, she shook her head and said: "Thanks, but I shan't want the car any more." He touched the brim of his cap, swung behind the wheel, and sent the big car whirling out of sight.

Pulling her evening wrap closer, and regretting her fragile slippers, Brinda turned toward the scene of the blast.

Doors were opening along the street; people, in various stages of dress and undress, were popping out of them. She noticed one man in evening clothes, carrying what looked like an African war-club; another man had a business-like rifle slung over his shoulder. They all looked grimly eager to annihilate the enemy who had presumed to disrupt the peace of the West End.

Several constables on motorcycles tore past, then a fire engine. Searchlights played on a rising cloud of dust and smoke. By their glare, Brinda could see a yawning, ominous gap in the row of buildings just ahead. Her breath caught in her throat, and suddenly she found herself running. Where, where was Dick? Her eyes strained for a glimpse of his tall figure. Then a broad arm loomed before her.

"Sorry, Miss; no one allowed past here," said a constable. With the other arm, he halted others of the gathering crowd. "Stand back, all! Keep the way clear!"

"I knew it!" exclaimed a small, hatless man in a checkered suit. "Hitler's a-chuckin air-bombs at us."

The constable regarded him contemptuously.

"Air-bomb my eye! A house blew up is all. An maybe it ain't through blowin' up yet."

The hatless man discreetly faded into the back of the crowd.

Brinda's eyes continued to search for Dick. In vain. A whistle blew shrilly. A man in uniform emerged from the dust-cloud and spoke rapidly to the constable.

The wail of an ambulance siren rose high.

"ONE WORD"

"Make way for the Red Cross! Make way!" commanded the constable, with new vigor.

The ambulance stopped. Men with stretchers leaped from it and strode toward the wrecked building.

"Somebody hurt?" It was the constable replying to a new questioner. "Of course somebody's hurt! Gentleman went too close and a wall fell on 'im—like one'll fall on you if you don't keep back!"

Brinda sickened with apprehension. Then the stretcher men returned, moving slowly. They carried only one stretcher now, and it was full.

"'Ere, 'ere!" The constable's hand closed on empty air. Brinda was already past him, bending anxiously over the figure on the stretcher. It was as she had feared.

"Dick!" she exclaimed, "Oh, Dick!"

Through a mask of pain he recognized her.

"Brinda!"

An ambulance attendant intervened. "Can't have this, Miss. Have to get him to the hospital."

He hoisted one end of the stretcher.

"Wait!" Dick managed to put a world of authority into the single syllable. "Want to talk to her—one word—private."

'The Letter' Tops Para-Fenway Bills

The Bette Davis-starring film version of Somerset Maughan's famous drama, "The Letter," is the holiday week feature on the Paramount and Fenway screens. On the same bill is "Tugboat Annie Sails Again," featuring Marjorie Rambeau and Alan Hale in this latest chapter from the famous national weekly features.

Another Midnight Show at Old Howard

Scarlett Kelly and Yvette Dare head "Speed and Sparkle," the Oil Howard's midnight show, starting at 11:30 tonight. Others in the cast are Dorothy Wahl, Diane Martin, Linda Powers, Billy Ainsley, Harry Evanson, Al Rio, the four Kanazawas, the Three Olympics, Frances and Fred, Dudley Douglas, Rose and Rosita, Denny Lyons, Wynne Carver, Al Blanc and Dottie Brenan.

Film Stars Hit On Boston Stage

By DON WARD

It's three cheers for Hollywood at the Keith-Boston for the rest of the week. At the head of the parade is one of movieland's loveliest, Patricia Ellis; next in line pert, pretty and talented little Dixie Dunbar; and beating the comedy drums, Wally Vernon.

Patricia, who has decorated dozens of films would certainly capture the Thanksgiving crowd's votes for the spotlight in the glamour department. Luscious is the word for Pat, and the gal can sing, too. Your favorite tune is on her list, and you'll be clamoring for another earful and eyeful.

Miss Dixie has the Reynolds aires with her, a quartet of tall and good-looking lads who join her in a fast and neat tap number, and in a combination conga and tap that is a five-way wow. For her star solo, the diminutive dancer does her routine from the Broadway success "Yokel Boy" and just as it used to be, it's a show-stopper.

You must remember Wally Vernon from screen hits,—that studied nonchalant of the dear dead-pan school of comics. Wally's wow is a clever burlesque of a strip-tease, and it had the crowd roaring. He does some smart eccentric hoofing, too, and has plenty of good gags.

Another brace of good comics, Arrens and Broderick, have a grand time—and so will you—in "Opera in the Ruff," members of the tail-waggers' club will go for Alf Loyal's trick doggies, and Paul Remos rounds out a gala bill with his tiny acrobats.

Gayety Shows 'Wages of Sin'

The Gayety's new film feature, "The Wages of Sin," featuring Constance Worth, Willy Costello, Rose La Rose and Marion Fields, recalls one of New York's most sensational underworld courtroom trials in this decade.

La Rose, well-known to burlesque patrons, provides a lighter note during the heavy melodramatic going by doing one of her unusual dances.

On the same bill, "Living Death," a mystery drama, is the story of a scientist who has perfected a method of causing living persons to appear dead.

At Scollay, Modern

"Arise, My Love," the highly entertaining screen comedy co-starring Claudette Colbert and Ray Milland, and Gene Autry, the films' highest salaried cowboy in "Melody Ranch," are the attractions on the Scollay and Modern screens.

8 Hours Dental Work Wins Him Army Berth

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP) William Fernandez got into the Army today, but only by standing for a lot worse drilling than he'll have to undergo while wearing the khaki.

Monday he was rejected because of bad teeth. He immediately went to a dentist who spent eight hours filling 11 cavities and substituting a crown for three teeth which had been extracted because of injuries to them in football.

Fernandez, 22, returned to the induction station today, showed his dental work and passed his exam with flying colors.

Willkie Talks On Air Tonight

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 29 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie arrived at Newark Airport from Florida so far ahead of schedule today that only a few mechanics were on hand to greet him.

Willkie's air time from West Palm Beach was four hours and 47 minutes.

"I haven't a thing to talk about now," he told interviewers.

The defeated Republican presidential candidate was accompanied by Mrs. Willkie and Charles Francis Coe, author and lawyer.

Willkie is scheduled to address the National Interfraternity Conference in New York tonight.

Willkie's speech will be broadcast over Station WNAC in Boston at 10:30 p. m.—Editor's note.

Willkie said before he left by cab for New York that he would return to Florida Monday.

3rd Term Foes Fight for Limit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—Declaring that President Roosevelt's re-election failed to settle the third term issue, a bi-partisan bloc of Senators today announced they would support legislation for a constitutional amendment to limit White House tenure.

Sen. Wiley (R) of Wisconsin said he would introduce legislation in January to limit Presidents to one six-year term, and also proposed future Presidents be made life members of the Senate at the end of their White House service.

"Past Presidents would become Senators-at-Large for life," Wiley said, "They would have the same powers and authority as elected Senators, and would be invaluable to the Senate because of their experience, especially in the problems of foreign affairs."

Senators who favor legislation to limit the terms of Presidents were agreed that the election was settled over "personalities" and "the foreign situation."

Manners

Proxy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to have a formal wedding very soon, and of course this means a wedding rehearsal. I have been told that it is incorrect for me to take part in the rehearsal. Is this really correct?

ALICIA.

Yes, this is correct. The bride-to-be is at the rehearsal, but she should not take part in it. She asks a friend to take her part, as a proxy.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When one is served a tomato juice cocktail preceding a dinner, and it is packed in a bowl of ice about midway up the glass, is it proper to drink it from the glass or to eat it with a spoon?

T.

The tomato juice cocktail is drunk from the glass. Since people vary as to what condiments they prefer to add, we may sip the cocktail with a spoon first, and then, after we have added what we wish to add, drink it.

Courtesy Tip

By MRS. BEECKMAN

The fact that you have paid for a service doesn't mean that you should omit thanking for the service. For example, when a courteous person gives a tip to a waiter or waitress, he or she accompanies the tip with a gracious "Thank you."—MRS BEECKMAN

AUSTEN LAKE

B. C.'s Mighty Mite Passes Into Legend

I AM THINKING OF B. C.'S CHARLEY O'ROURKE. So is Holy Cross! But I am thinking of Charley O'Rourke, because he is Boston's most publicized football player since Harvard's Eddie Casey and before that, Ned Mahan. And because tomorrow his show may be over and there will be little use for his peculiar gifts.

AUSTEN LAKE

The papers are publishing his life's story next to the Congressional news. His image dominates the Sunday sport sections. He is touted by football's Vox Pop wherever they get together for a crust and a thimble. The sport authors bless him as a combination Winged Mercury, hurler of Jovian thunderbolts, a Rocky Mountain goat and a cannonshot.

It is a heavy load of expectancy for a 22-year-old. For tomorrow he is supposed to perform a duplicate set of miracles to match the miracles he has already performed. And he may do it. Tulane, Georgetown and Auburn remember too well how he, under an equal load of expectancy, did it this year.

O'Rourke's record is, in miniature, virtually the B. C. record for 1940. For, although his scoring isn't so heavy as wagtail Monk Maznicki's, he has set up most of the B. C.'s 313 points. Have a look. Against:

Tulane—He threw a touchdown pass to Maznicki from his own 42 to the end zone.

Temple—Two touchdown passes of 23 and 35 yards. Scored on a 12-yard end sweep.

Idaho—Didn't throw a pass. Manhattan—threw only one.

B. U.—Only one.

Georgetown—One 28-yard touchdown pass to Maznicki.

Auburn—Touchdown pass of 30 yards to Maznicki. Scored on a 15-yard run.

He has run 63 times for a total of 415 yards and an average net of 6.9.

He has passed 73 times and completed 31 for 519 yards.

He has kicked 32 times for an average of 39 yards.

So O'Rourke has earned his pedestal in B. C. fame by being the most potent individual threat East of the Appalachians. Which seems to fatten him up for a final flourish or an equally final flop. The width between H. C.'s success and failure tomorrow seems to be the width between O'Rourke's shoulders.

SNOW BLANKETS THE GROUND. A boreal blast comes from the north. The forecast is stormy. But that's nothing new. For over the years the loyal legions of B. C. and H. C.—B. C.'s football wars have huddled hip-by-thigh on the frigid slopes at the risk of freezing their plumbing. They have come annually with bed quilts, slickers, thermos jugs and sat away the wintry games amid the most capricious conditions of a freaky climate.

Yes! There have been H. C.-B. C. games when snowflakes large as popcorn balls blanketed the field. Showers have deluged autumn finery and turned the playing surface into frog ponds. Northern winds have whistled up masculine pant legs and caused fur coated females to shudder delicate shivers. And every so often a belated summer sweeps its tailfeathers over the scene, hanging a warm sun in the sky and bringing a day which suggests Miami and the mocking birds warbling in the sweet magnolia trees.

But always in fair weather or foul the H. C.-B. C. martyrs have remained, taking sunshine, quakes and deluge until the Field Judge piped all hands to the downtown comforts of a cocktail lounge, hotele, home or waiting trains. Of all our football crowds they are the most devoted, hardy and heroic.

ON A BASIS OF MUSCULARITY, HEFT and resources, B. C. sums up to perceptibly better figures than H. C. If there is anything in the horse-clocker's system, the racing form chart, precedent from past performance and all the intricate arithmetic by which the wise men figure their feed-box specials, then B. C. should win this one by three touchdowns. Yet, consider! Sport records show that even Man O' War, the Pegasus of the turf, lost to a comparative unknown. Joe Louis, the supposedly invincible, was knocked out by a "hopelessly antiquated" ring-weary veteran, Max Schmeling. Cornell was larruped by a sub-average Dartmouth team. And Harvard, the Fauntleroys of the Ivy League, stood off Penn, the hairy-chested troglodytes. This is not meant as an augury but merely as a reminder that sometimes the worst happens to the best.

Holy Cross has been busted around pretty liberally this year by Louisiana (25-0), Brown (9-6), Colgate (6-0), Mississippi (34-7). That's disaster according to old H. C. standards. And B. C. by all odds, has its greatest all-time team and rules the Big-time along the Seaboard from Canada to Key West. Yet late records of H. C.-B. C. rivalry show that this game often goes by contraries with the party of the second part whistling up steam and puffing to miracles. One can dig

PEMBROKE

Worsted Tweed OVERCOATS

Woven of 2-ply worsted yarn to insure extra warmth plus extra wear.

$35

Gentlemen, there's a story behind these coats that you're entitled to know. Frankly, most tweed overcoats are good to look at but lack the stamina to stand the gaff of long, hard wear. We have overcome this fault by having these handsome Pembroke tweeds woven of long, double twisted worsted yarns that will stand about any reasonable test of wear you care to give them. Further than that—we had the yarns tested by our Testing Laboratory. Why not come in and try on a Pembroke today? See for yourself why so many Boston men believe that buying Pembroke is one swell way to get MORE for LESS MONEY. Single breasted raglan and set-in sleeve styles in the new shades for winter. Regulars, shorts and longs in sizes 34 to 44, $35.

Pembroke Two-Trouser Suits $29.50 and $35

B. C. TO PLAY TENNESSEE IN SUGAR BOWL

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1940

Goodreault Works Out

By BILL GRIMES

"I hope the Eagles are in the same destructive mood when they go after the Crusaders tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park as they were when the 'Come'n Get It' summoned them to their Thanksgiving Day dinners," remarked Head Coach Frank W. Leahy this morning at the Belmont Country Club, while he and his aides were waiting for the B. C. players to assemble for a blackboard talk.

"Of course, I'm speaking figuratively. Mayhem never appealed to me. But, it might become necessary for me to take the opposite or literal stand.

REMEMBER CORNELL

"You know it's possible for Holy Cross to beat Boston College. I don't figure Holy Cross as the probable winner but you can't get away from the fact that there is still a possibility of the verdict going to the Crusaders. Anything can happen in football. Think back at what happened to the supposedly top ranking eleven of the east, Cornell, at Dartmouth. Holy Cross is a better bet to beat B. C. today than Dartmouth was to stop Cornell a fortnight back.

"So, although I'm still confident of a B. C. victory, notice that my fingers are crossed as I make that prediction.

"Let's get away from the possi-

Coast Bid, If Any, Will Be Refused

By JACK CONWAY

Boston College's undefeated football team will battle Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

All arrangements for the contest have been completed by the athletic departments of Boston College and Tennessee, and with the Sugar Bowl committee.

The formal announcement of the game will be delayed until after the Boston College-Holy Cross contest at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon.

The only happening that could deprive Boston College of a Sugar Bowl game would be a defeat by Holy Cross. This is unlikely in view of what both teams have done this season.

INTEREST LIES IN SOUTH

Boston College, fired by the brilliant passing of Charlie O'Rourke, should beat Holy Cross by at least three touchdowns.

The Sugar Bowl committee, recognizing that upsets can always happen in football, has requested that no positive announcement of the Boston College-Tennessee game be made until after the Holy Cross contest.

The Sugar Bowl negotiations have been going on since Boston College won from Tulane in New Orleans early in October. Other than for a few details, the game is all set for New Year's Day.

This is why Boston College has not made any recent efforts to secure a Rose Bowl game with Stanford. Even when Texas A. & M. was beaten by Texas, the Boston College authorities did not communicate with the Rose Bowl committee.

Boston College has been building interest in its games with Southern colleges, and a Sugar Bowl contest is part of the general program.

Boston College played Tulane and Auburn this year, and its victories over these elevens have increased its football prestige in the South.

GO SOUTH EARLY

Boston College, like most other eastern college, has no games scheduled with West Coast colleges, and other than for the trip to the Rose Bowl and the money the game would bring, it is not felt that Boston College's long-range program would benefit by a clash with Stanford.

Meanwhile, Frank Leahy is looking ahead to the Holy Cross game tomorrow and he will delay all statements on bowl games until after the Purple has been beaten.

An unexpected Holy Cross victory would require Leahy to rewrite an announcement he intends to make from a radio station immediately after the Boston College-Holy Cross game.

Under present plans, Boston College will leave for New Orleans 10 days before the game so that its eleven will be thoroughly acclimated and drilled when it meets Tennessee.

NEBRASKA MAY LAND IN PASADENA

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 29 (AP) Texas A. & M.'s first football defeat in 20 games threw the Rose Bowl field wide open today.

The Aggies, boomed loudly last year but passed uf by Southern California in favor of Tennessee, were the choice of most Pacific Coast fans for this year's bid to the New Year's Day classic here.

VOTE TOMORROW

Whether they were definitely eliminated was problematical. Defeated teams have been invited, and a movement is gaining headway in behalf of Nebraska, Big Six champion, beaten by Cinnesota in the season's opener.

But the biggest clamor was set up by supporters of Tennessee and Boston College, both with clear records. The Vols lost to U. S. C. 14-0 last January, and their backers say they deserve another chance.

Although Boston College is a definite possibility, the general impression here is the the Eagles are already set for a Sugar Bowl appearance. (Ed. note—That impression is correct).

What Stanford University— considered a certain western choice—thinks about it remained to be seen. The Indians still have their traditional finale against California coming up Saturday and are not committing themselves until its over.

The coast conference vote will be taken immediaetly after that game. Stanford so far is undefeated.

AGGIES STILL HOPE

All Al Masters, Stanford graduate manager, would admit last night was that Texas Aggies' loss to Texas U., 7-0, 'complicates matters."

"Now you guess" was his answer to inquiries.

The rest of the eastern possibilities were receiving little consideration.

Minnesota and runner-up Michigan, reports from the Western Conference indicate, will be barred by continuance of the post-season ban. A similar ban would eliminate Pennsylvania.

It might still be Texas Aggies—but only time and the Host school of the Pacific coast conference can tell.

HOLY CROSS CAPTAIN ABLE TO FACE B. C.

WORCESTER, Nov. 29—Capt. John Kellar, sidelined with leg injuries for the greater part of the season, has been pronounced fit and ready to start at his tackle berth for Holy Cross against Boston College at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon.

The announcement of Kellar's fitness coincided with the report that halfback Tommy Sullivan will definitely be a spectator.

Sullivan, offensive cog in the Crusader machine, will not even dress for the game, according to predictions.

His leg, though improved, is still too weak to allow his participation in the traditional game. Last year, Sullivan was sent to the college infirmary the day before the objective tilt.

With the return of Kellar, Coach Joe Sheeketski displayed his first sign of confidence. In discussing the squad, Sheeketski said his boys were ready to give a good account of themselves.

In the short, snappy workout, Sheeketski made but one change in the starting line-up. Frank Faziano, a senior, was given the nod over Tom Alberghini at right guard.

Faziano, Kellar, Joe Osmanski, back, and Paul Dorrington, center, will be the only seniors in the starting team.

THE ANGEL FLATTENS 'MOUNTAIN'

It took The Angel just 8 minutes and 43 seconds to dispose of Man Mountain Dean of Atlanta, Ga., with a bear hug and retain his claim to the world heavyweight wrestling title in the feature bout of Paul Bowser's card at the Arena.

In a contest that followed the feature contest, Tommy O'Toole of Southern California was declared the victor over Joe Cox of Kansas when the referee disqualified Cox for rough tactics.

Leo Numa, Seattle Wash., tossed "Bibber" McCoy, Cambridge, out of the ring and was declared the winner when McCoy was unable to return before Referee Sam Smith tolled off the count of 20.

Pat Beel, Wisconsin, pinned Joe Maynard, New York, with a flying tackle in 27.35 and Chris Zaharias, St. Louis, pressed George Manson, Chicago, to the canvas in 11.29 with a head lock and press.

"BOSTON AFTER DARK," by George Holland, is a regular feature of the Boston Evening American.

Louis Arrives for M'Coy Bout

By JACK CONWAY

Joe Louis arrived in Boston at noon today to begin traininb for his 15-round world heavyweight championship bout with Al McCoy, which will be staged at the Garden on Dec. 16 by the Goodwin A. C.

Louis was met at the Back Bay station by Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin A. C. and a party of friends. Louis visited the Goodwin A. C. and then went to Stow where he will stay.

The champion stated he planned to start training at Johnny Buckley's Gym on Friend st tomorrow afternoon.

KEEPS BUSY

"I have been doing light training for the past ten days and am already in pretty good condition," said Louis.

"I shall have the services of some first class sparring partners while I am in Boston, and I know I shall be at my best when I enter the ring against McCoy.

"I accepted the McCoy bout for two reasons. First, I wished to keep active in the ring, and, second, I was anxious to show in Boston.

"I recognize the fact that McCoy or any other of the other leading contenders whom I meet have a chance to beat me.

"No heavyweight is knockout proof.

"I am still willing to take the risk. I asume in such matches because I feel that if I only boxed once a year, as the champions did before I became ruler of the heavyweight division, I would gather ring rust and might be beaten by a mediocre performer.

WEIGHS 200

"I shall train as hard for McCoy as I did for Schmeling. I know Al can hit better than most heavyweights, and I intend to be fast enough to prevent Al from nailing me with his left hook."

Louis stated he weighed a shade over 200 pounds, and that he would probably be at 198 pounds when he collides with McCoy.

Meanwhile, McCoy is training at Lou Stillman's gym, New York city.

Testimonial Planned For Monte in Brockton

A testimonial will be tendered Joe Monte of Brockton, Sunday night, Dec. 15 at K of C Hall when his friends gather to honor the former New England amateur light heavyweight champ, and later a stand out in professional ranks.

Jack Sharkey will be present.

RAMS WAIT VIOLETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (INS) — Fordham's Rams took nothing for granted today as they awaited tomorrow's fracas with the hapless N. Y. U. Violets. With the possibility of a post-season Bowl engagement for the Rams hinging on the outcome, the Fordhamites held a long, gruelling scrimmage yesterday.

BIG JUMP IN WOMEN SHOOTERS

Turkey shoots held during the past week by most of the outstanding gun clubs of New England served as ideal tune-ups for the coming series of matches in the William Randolph Hearst Citizen's Marksmanship Competition.

Experts were agreed that there was a greater number of marksmen on the firing line, both men and women, than at any other similar time of the year in the past. And they give most of the credit to the fact that interest has reached a high pitch over the forthcoming Hearst Citizen's Shoot.

MOVING INDOORS

The outdoor range season has, however, about come to an end. Riflemen are taking their guns to the indoor ranges where the firing lines will be busy for the next several months without concern over the vagaries of weather.

An astonishing number of new feminine shooters has been attracted to the sport and several women's teams have entered the Hearst lists.

These women are eligible under the Hearst Shoot rules and girls are welcome, as well, in the William Randolph Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy Competition which is a separate unit for youngsters under 19 years of age, with rules and conditions of competition distinct from the Senior Shoot.

CLOSING DATE NEAR

But for all these leagues and clubs which have not yet filed their entries, a word of warning as to the closing date on filing may be welcome.

League entries, which may be filed after the league season has begun, must be in the office of the rifle editor of the American-Record, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, not later than Dec. 16.

But club and team entries without league affiliations must be filed not later than Dec. 2—scarcely more than one week away.

Former Purple Grid Immortals Speak at Rally

Two Holy Cross gridiron immortals, Hilary Mahaney and Phil O'Connell, will be the principal speakers tonight at the annual rally and smoker to be held at the University Club by the Holy Cross Club of Boston.

Other speakers will be Coach Joe Sheeketski, Fred Ostergren, Jim Britt and Rev. J. B. Connors, S. J., faculty alumni director. Class reunion dinners, at which a moving picture of Holy Cross life will be shown, will precede the smoker.

Ski Scribblings

BY "TAP" GOODENOUGH

SKIING IS HERE! Snow-hungry skiers feasted yesterday on a menu consisting of christies, snowplows, and schusses that were most opportunely served to them on local golf courses and nearby slopes. This unexpected early snowfall will give all a chance to find their "ski legs," as well as to get in some valuable practice before the real season starts. In fact, the skiing locally is better than it is in the north country, where running is limited on trails because of lack of a base.

The nearest ski tow to Boston, now operating had its initial testing yesterday on the big hill at the Commonwealth Country Club in Newton, on the Brighton line Scores of flying figures stippled these slopes, rejoicing at the chance to get in more downhill running via the tow. This lift is permanently installed under the direction of Ted Cook, who formerly ran it at the old trails on Mount Gunstock in the Belknaps.

CANNON MOUNTAIN, mighty monarch of Franconia Notch, N. H., will be the only ski center in the country with the unique distinction of having both an aerial tramway and an Alpine ski lift to service its tempting trails this winter. The lift is under construction at this writing, the announcement of which project is the most interesting news we have discovered in pre-season ramblings . . . Tows and trams are springing up like mushrooms everywhere in the north country . . . Trails have been graded, widened and newly made

. . . Additional ski schools and ski patrols have been organized . .

SCOUTING SKI SPOTS

Over the Tuckerman Ravine Headwall—in an airplane! We've been over it on skis, but swooping birdlike over Mount Washington in a schuss from the sky was an incomparable thrill we had with our skiing secretary a few weeks ago.

Chancing to meet Willie Apte, famous pilot at North Conway, N. H., we finally essayed the flight at his urging . . . Up, up we climbed, until the plane levelled off at 8000 feet. Soaring over a sea of peaks, the top of Mount Washington below stood out like a giant cake covered with white frosting. Trails threaded the mountains; we could plainly see the Sherburne, Wildcat Trail, and others, looping like ribbons through the woods . . .

Circling back, new developments on Cranmore Mountain were discernible. Slopes and trails have been smoothed, and much timber has been cut to widen the skiing area . . . And then a perfect three-point landing!

SCOUTING SKI SHOPS

Boston is fairly teeming with ski instructors and celebrities who are now working at the various shops until Christmas.

Ray Howlett, racer and president of the Oshoni Ski Club, is still wearing his cheerful pipe and smile at Asa Osborne's Ski Store. He tells us that the U. S. E. A. S. A. Women's Ski championships have been awarded to the Newfound Region at a date set in March!

Sportscraft is livened by the presence of Harry Hoher, last year with the Plymouth Swiss Ski School, who will take up his duties this season at Franconia. More at a later date about this lad!

Oscar Cyr and Fred Noseworthy are selling skis and equipment at Jordan Marsh's nice Snow Hut . . . Oscar raced last March in all the big meets at Sun Valley, Alta., and Mount Rainer.

At Filene's Snow Train Shop, we find Delphine Carpenter, brilliant writer and associate editor of the Ski Bulletin.

Billy Weir, former U. of N. H. skier and now playing ball for the Bees, is again happy to be back at Horace Partridge's.

At Raymond's Ski Department, Henry Wischussen is ready to give expert advice about the boards to one and all.

Bjarne Johannsen is again operating his own Ski Shop on Carver st. . . . After hours, Bjarne guides the members of the Wildcats' Ski Club in their meetings.

102,000 to See Army-Navy

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Army and Navy, wedded in gridiron competition 50 years ago, salute the golden anniversary of their magnificent rivalry tomorrow in Philadelphia's $4,000,000 Municipal Stadium.

The squads, each more than 4 strong, arrived at separate stations here last night and hastened into seclusion at suburban retreats.

"We're here to do a job," Major Emery E. (Swede) Larson of the Navy said briefly. "Army's always hard for the Navy to beat."

"Listen," commanded Capt Bill Wood of the Army, "Swede Larson—and he's a good coach, too—has backs to burn."

And strangely enough, compared to Army and Navy games of yesteryears, there are almost "tickets to burn" for the classic which will include for the first time joint as well as single playing and maneuvers of the 4000 cadets and middies arriving tomorrow.

Officials credited the accelerated national defense program with being responsible for a heavier than usual ticket return from Army and Navy personnel, tied to officers duties.

Lieutenant Commander Morris Gilmore of the Navy, said, however, "We expect the crowd to stack up with the other four games that have been played in the stadium—that is, about 102,000 people."

HANK MAZUR

Future Gen. From Lowell

Both eleven take their final workouts today. The Navy, quartered at the Manufacturers Country Club at Overbrook, went to Temple Stadium, the Army barracked at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, used an undisclosed team for field.

Army in capital shape is staying for its first major victory since it defeated the Middies in 1926.

"Do you believe that your weatherman resented Boston College turning over its football problems to a Dakotan, a Texan and a Jerseyite" And, does he believe Joe McArdle is an out-of-stater?

IDEAL SKI WEATHER

"Well, be that as it may, he's turned on some atrocious weather just before the big games since I've been here. We had trouble with him a year ago at this time and he certainly gave us the business while we were trying to get back into the swing of football for the Cotton Bowl game. If you don't recall that it rained practically the entire week before the Georgetown game, I do. And, definitely so. And, look what he presented us with last Tuesday night. If I were the B. C. Ski team, instead of the football coach, your weatherman would probably push the thermometer up into the low 90s."

The Eagles put in a busy holiday. They had an early breakfast, after which they spent an hour watching the skiiers trying to negotiate the step hill on the 4th fairway.

PRACTISED AT TUFTS

Coach Leahy called a morning meeting and went over the B. C. plays in great detail. Then, at 2:30, the squad piled into a couple of buses and went to the Tufts College indoor baseball cage.

The Eagles were put through a long drill, during which they polished up all of the offensive plays. After an hour and a half work out, Line Coach Joe McArdle took over and sent the squad through setting up exercises for about 15 minutes.

Boston College will go through the same proceedure today, unless Coach Leahy unearths some field where it will be possible to practise out of doors.

After dinner this evening, the Eagles will be shown movies of last year's Holy Cross game and Graduate Manager John P. Curley has arranged for some entertainers to be at the Belmont Country Club.

GOODREAULT WORKS OUT

Gene Goodreault, who is B. C's leading candidate for All America honors, worked out with the squad yesterday. After limbering up around the indoor track, Goodreault joined the first varsity squad. He has improved notably in two days and Coach Leahy is very much pleased of the condition of his star flankman.

During the practise yesterday at Tufts, it was very apparent that dispite the fact that the Eagles although they are now one of four major college elevens with perfect records of the season, are anything but a cocky outfit.

EAGLES KEYED UP

Naturally, they must realize that they are good, very good in fact, but you'd never suspect from their talk or actions that they were one of the greatest of all time football squads.

They were as attentive and as serious as though they were trying to stage a comeback after a disastrous season, instead of winning nine in a row.

The Boston College squad will remain at the Belmont Country Club until noon tomorrow when they will go to Fenway Park for a game which will make or break them.

16 SENIORS PLAY LAST B. C. GAME

When Boston College meets traditional rival Holy Cross at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon there will be sixteen seniors sporting Maroon and Gold jerseys who will be making their farewell appearance as college football players here in Boston.

Each of these 16 Eagles has given his very best in a football way to Boston College during the past four years. Some of the group are standout college names. Others are just guys named "Joe" to the general public. But to Head Coach Leahy, however, the lesser lights are most important parts of the great grid machine which has rolled Boston College to nine straight triumphs and to the very lip of the greatest of Bowl games—The Pasadena Rose Bowl.

You'll be reading more about the latter during the next week—for the present let's consider the cases of 16 men who tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park will bow out of Boston College football.

HENRY TOCZYLOWSKI (Captain): Often referred to as "The Hammer" and "Mr. Necessity" of the Boston College attack, is a resident of Lynn. He's 22 years of age, weighs 184 pounds and stands 5.10 in his stockings. He's played four years of football at Boston College. He's rated varsity quarterback, play selector and best blocking back since late in his sophomore year. A senior, he bows out of the Boston College grid picture in the same identical fashion that he entered. "Hank" was Eaglet captain for the Dartmouth game, the first of his career, when he was a freshman, back in 1937. Tomorrow he'll lead the Eagles in their last contest of the regular schedule for 1940.

Toczylowski

CHARLES O'ROURKE: Resident of Malden—Stands 5.11 and packs 158 important pounds. This 22-year older has won two varsity letters thus fer. Though he's probably the country's eighth best outstanding back Charlie had played more football than any player on the Eagle squad. An outstanding example of triple threat O'Rourke over a period of the past two years has been the leading ground gainer in the East . . . A cool, calculating left halfback O'Rourke will be selected on many All-America teams this season.

O'Rourke

GENE GOODREAULT: right end, at which position he has started all but two Boston College games in four years. . . A Haverhill boy Gene packs 182 pounds on 5:19 He is 22 years of age. He O'Rourke have roomed together for four years . . . Goodreault was named right end on Bill Sterns All America team for Life magazine only yesterday. Will be named on many more All teams when the season is over . . . Was named outstanding player in New England in 1939 by famed Gridiron Club . . . Missed first game of his eight year grid career (high school and college) when he was forced to sit on bench with knee injury during Auburn contest last week . . . Will start tomorrow against Holy Cross . . . Very popular at Heights. Good Student.

Goodreault

TOM MAHON: Left guard . . . wt. 210; ht. 6.1; age 23; home, Dorchester . . . Was first string guard during part of his sophomore year . . . Has been used at both tackle and guard . . . Big and strong, Mahon has been of definite value to Boston College football.

EDWARD TWISS: Left guard . . . wt. 225; ht. 6; age 21; home, Quincy . . . Though never rated a first stringer, Ed has seen his share of action . . . Good student . . . quiet nature . . . Well liked by squad mates and rest of student body.

Lukachik

JOE MANZO: Left tackle . . . Wt., 212 pounds . . Ht., 6 ft. . . . Age 23 . . . A Medford boy . . . Rated one of best tackles in East . . Took over varsity job in spring practice of 1939 and has held it ever since . . . One of best dispositioned boys on squad. Mild off the field but awfully tough on the gridiron . . . One of the most popular students at Heights . . . Played best game against Georgetown thus far this season . . . Will start tomorrow.

Manzo

JOHN YUCKOES: right tackle . . . wt. 253 pounds . . . ht. 6:5 . . . age 23 . . . Resident of Bedford, Mass. . . . Has won two varsity letters . . . Very fast for big man . . . Has had much of say at right tackle slot since he became varsity man . . Like Manzo one of East's better tackles . . . Needs to be aroused by rugged competition to play his best game.

Yauckoes

GEORGE KERR, right guard . . . wt. 196 pounds . . . ht. 5:10 . . . Home, Brookline, Mass. . . . Has won two varsity letters . . . One of greatest student-athletes in the history of Boston College . . . Star debater and orator . . . Plays symphonic music on the piano . . . Best heavyweight boxer in college . . . Has made Dean's list five out of a possible six semester . . . Will undoubtedly be named to many All-America teams . . . One of the most respected boys at the Heights . . . George will enter the seminary next fall.

Kerr

FRANK GALVANI: Left guard . . . Wt. 195, ht. 5.5; age 21; home, Framingham, Mass. . . . Has won one letter . . . Was voted most improved player in 1940 spring drills . . . Is important substitute, though he has had to take a back seat to some of the more rated guards.

TONY TASSINARI: Left guard . . . wt. 208; ht. 5.8; age 23; home, Salem . . . Small blocky type of football player . . Handicapped by short stature, but has seen much action . . . Good natured, humorous fellow, well liked . . .

JOE ZABILSKI: Left guard . . . Wt. 194, ht. 5.11; age 23; home, Providence, R. I. . . Has won two varsity letters on gridiron . . . Was fullback as a freshman and sophomore. Shifted to guard in '39 and has been standout since . . . Older brother of Ed . . . Joe is a one-man track team but excels as hammer thrower Will start tomorrow.

J. Zabilski

DAVE WHITE: Right guard . . . Wt. 186, ht. 5.10, age 22; home, Somerville . . . Was end as a freshman and sophomore . . . With Joe Zabilski was shifted to guard in 1939 . . . Has been important substitute for two years . . . Lack of weight, biggest handicap.

• • •

CHESTER GLADCHUK: Center . . . wt. 232; ht. 6.5; age 22; home, Bridgeport, Ct. . . . An All America pivot if there ever was one . . . Tremendous size, strength and agility make him ideal line backer - upper and pass defender . . . Believe it or not, or have you heard, Chet resides on Tom Thumb st. in his home town . . . Well liked by coaches, players, and student body . . . Has fine sense of humor . . . Will probably play professional football next year.

Gladchuk

WALT DUBINSKI: Center . . . wt. 191 ht. 5:10; age 21; home, Gardner Mass. . . . But for the fact that he had Gladchuk to contend with Dubinski would be varsity center . . . Like Joe Zabilski, the Gardner boy was converted from fullback in 19. . . . Has been a positive wow at center . . . Shares the job with All-America Gladchuk, a compliment indeed . . . Good student . . . Second youngest senior on squad, he was not eligible for draft though he has since become a "man" . . . One of best tacklers on squad . . . Quiet, hard worker . . . Will see lots of action tomorrow.

LOU MONTGOMERY, Right halfback . . . wt. 170; ht. 5:8; home, Roxbury (It was Brockton) . . . has won two letters . . . Is the crowd's favorite . . . Boston College likes Lou and Lou likes Boston College . . . At football rally Wednesday said his four years at Boston College were "four of most pleasant years of my life" . . . is climax runner . . . will see lots of action against Holy Cross . . .

B. C.'s Goodreault On Life's 'All' Team

Worcester Sends Former Champion To Final 'All' Trial

Central Massachusetts amateur boxers will be very much in evidence in the fourth and final tryout of the annual New England All-America championships, sponsored by the Irish-American A. A., at the Arena next Monday night. Tom Kanaly, with whom all entries for this tournament must be filed, announced receipt of eight signed blanks from Worcester aspirants for All-America honors.

The card will consist of bouts in 12 classes—8 for the experienced battlers in championship weights, ranging from flyweight to heavyweight, and four divisions of novices at 118, 135 and 160 pounds and heavyweights. All entries must be filed before noon tomorrow, and no post entries will be accepted at weighing time on Monday.

FORMER CHAMP ENTERS

Monday night's winners in all classes, as well as the victors in the three previous elimination shows will clash at the Garden in the N. E. All-America Finals on December 9. Then on December 23, the N. E. champions in the open classes will meet All-America winners from New York, Albany and Baltimore in the Eastern All-America Finals. This show will also be held at the Garden.

The entries from Worcester include Homer Robichaud and Walter Barch in the 126 pounds—Roger LaPerle and John Maile in the 135—Gene Robichaud, former N. E. All-America champion, and Gerard Cote in the 147—Sylvio LaPerle in the 160 pounds and John Hanson in the heavyweight group.

VIVOLO IN 175'S

Other entries received included John McKinnon, Boston, in the 118 open class—Rosaire Guilbault, Co. E, 84 Q. M., Fort Devens; Sam Di Vincenzo, Haverhill, and Francis Welch, Lowell, the boy who made such a hit with the fans last week, in the 135 rounds; William Hackett, Jamaica Plain; Henry Marcotte, South Boston; Mike Cocozza, Haverhill, and Mike Cascio, Boston, in the 147 pounds.

Lou Vivolo, Boston, State middleweight king last season, will try to qualify in the 175 pounds. In the heavyweight division are Bill Dupree, Cambridge, and Hank Grove, Dedham.

LASH SETS HARRIER RECORD

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP)—Don Lash says that he derives sheer joy from running and consequently it will not be surprising if the seven-time national senior amateur Athletic Union cross country champion remains in track competition for some time to come.

After Lash had run 52 challengers into submission and set an all-time record of 30 minutes 25.8 seconds for the 1940 10,000 meter A. A. U. harrier event at Meadowbrook Country Club here yesterday the obvious question concerned Lash's future.

"This may or may not have been my last race," said the former Indiana University star. "Frankly, I didn't plan to enter here today but I started training and found myself in the best condition of my career.

Arthur Duffey, Jr., the former Harvard hockey star, who is flying a T. W. A. plane from New York to Washington, has been ordered back into the U. S. N. . . . He will report to the Navy Flying Corps next month . . .

Dr. Stan Yudicky, the former Dartmouth football captain who was one of the best of all Big Green ends, is on the staff of the Newton Hospital. But, he will transfer to the New York Memorial Hospital next month . . . The Woodland Golf Club will tender a farewell dinner to Johnny Thoren next Tuesday. The Woodland pro will be inducted into the U. S. Army Jan. 3. And, late in December, Eddie Wyner will toss a party for the same Mr. Thoren. Bring your tooth brush and Wyner will supply the bromides . . .

Johnny Corcoran and Ed Dagnino, who are the timers at Bruin games, are members of the Massachusetts Golf Association. But, they posted the wrong score during the Canadiens' game. Joe Lynch would like to know why they weren't disqualified . . . Can't understand why Frank Leahy is so sold on New England. He hasn't had a break from the weather for his objective game since he came to Boston College . . .

Hugo Separini, the Newton auto tycoon, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown from pulling for B. C. to go through undefeated and untied and trying to rout the Bruins into a victory at the Garden. And, believing that business was interfering with his football and hockey, Hugo sold his business.

Billy Corcoran, youngest of the six Corcoran brothers (count 'em, Frank, Freddie, George, Joe, John and Billy), is in the shoe business in New York . . . Jay Wesley, the sports announcer, isn't from these parts or he'd never have asked a product of Barry's Corner (Joe McKenney) a question pertaining to tennis. Naturally, Joe didn't know the answer. He'd have been ostracized for admitting, even in private, the slightest knowledge of the Davis Cup.

Tom Keady and his "Accy-Deucy" club will be in session weekly at the Hotel Lenox starting from one week from tomorrow afternoon . . . Greater Boston, in general, and Malden, in particular, will pay tribute to Chucking Charlie O'Rourke next Tuesday evening at the Malden Armory . . . All of the snow and ice has been removed from the playing field and seats at Fenway Park.—BILL GRIMES

5 for Wilson; $76 Profit

That is what followers of the GREEN RACE SPECIAL would have realized by following the handicapping of Dave Wilson, BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN turf expert, champion of handicappers since the inauguration of racing in New England and leader at any outside track he handicaps horses.

DAVE WILSON

The King came up with five winners, the daily double, and two code horse bets, both of which won, on the seven race program at Bowie, Maryland, yesterday.

A table of his bets and the profit forthcoming:

Horse	Bet	Finish	Net Profit
Bubble Lil	$2 Win	Won—$11.70	$ 9.70
Victory Light	2 Win	Won— 7.30	5.30
Daily Double	2 Flat	Won— 46.60	44.60
Cheer Me	2 Win	Place— 3.60	Lose 2.00
Machree	2 Win	Won— 4.90	2.90
Rawson	2 Win	Out	Lose 2.00
Sunphantom	2 Win	Won— 6.20	4.20
Housework	2 Win	Won— 4.80	2.80
Sunphantom (code)	2 Win	Won— 6.20	4.20
Housework (code)	5 Win	Won— 4.80	7.00
Totals	$23	$99.70	$76.70

Wilson's code, which appears exclusively in the GREEN RACE SPECIAL, may be deciphered by obtaining a copy of "Dave Wilson's Winners," on sale at all leading newsstands.

For the top-flight racing newspaper in the nation, the very best in handicapping ranks, the best bet for horse followers is the GREEN RACE SPECIAL, where they can WIN WITH WILSON!

New Grid Berth For Potsy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 23—George "Potsy" Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions professional football team, has accepted the position of football mentor and director of public relations at the University of Grand Rapids, an official of the institution said today.

C. C. Wondels, dean of the University, in making the announcement said that contracts have not been signed yet but added that Clark would receive a "fairly big" contract.

Clark himself was unavailable for comment. In Detroit, Lion owner Fred L. Mandel, Jr., said:

"I am meeting with Potsy tomorrow, until then he is still coach of the Lions."

FIVE YEARS AGO—Fordham Rams knocked New York University off unbeaten list, handing Violets first defeat, 21 to 0, before 72,000 who witnessed traditional game at Yankee Stadium.

Challedon May Break Money Mark

By Associated Press

The eighth annual meeting of the National Ass'n of State Racing Commissioners has been called for Jan. 16-18 at Miami, Fla., by President John Sloan of New York.

The dates are a week later than usual in order not to conflict with the close of Tropical Park's first meeting and the opening of Hialeah.

Challedon, now on the West Coast being pointed for the rich winter stakes at Santa Anita, already has netted $322,835 in winning 18 races.

The Maryland-bred four-year-old $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, the $50,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap, and the New Year's, San Pasqual, San Carlos and San Antonio Caps, all valued at $10,000.

Conn 2-1 Choice Over Savold

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (INS)—Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion who would sell his birthright to mix with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, takes another step in that direction tonight when he meets Heavyweight Lee Savold, an ex-bartender from Des Moines, in a scheduled 12-round bout in New York.

Broadway bookies established Conn, who will be making his fifth start against the heavyweights, as a 2 to 1 favorite over "Lethal" Lee, the pride of the Corn Belt Country.

Both boys rank high among the contenders for Louis crown, and the outcome of the fight will go a long way in helping Promoter Mike Jacobs decide who should meet the Brown Bomber for the title in the first outdoor show in June.

Along Jacobs' Beach, the inside dope is that the handsome Hibernian from Pittsburgh already has been matched with Louis for a June date and that he is being built up into a contender by fighting a number of fair-to-middlin' heavyweights.

In previous bouts with the heavies, Sweet William has stopped Bob Pastor and Gus Dorazio and has decisioned Al McCoy and Henry Cooper. Of these, only Pastor can be considered better than a "trial-horse."

Savold, a mild-mannered fellow with light hair and watery blue eyes, has lost only one fight in 10 starts this year. He erased that defeat, however, by defeating the man who beat him, one Johnny Whiters, in a return match.

In addition, the former barkeep has knocked out seven of his last eight opponents and it is because of his mighty wallop that he is given a chance against such a crafty boxer as Conn.

If Savold is to kayo Conn, according to the experts, he will have to do it within the first five or six rounds when the Pittsburgher, a notoriously slow-starter, is getting warmed up.

If he doesn't catch the light heavyweight champ then, the experts agree, he will get the boxing lesson of his life in addition to losing the decision.

Conn differs with the experts.

"I've been practicing a paralyzing punch," he reported. "It is a left hook to the body. It is the punch which made Pastor quit

B. C.'s Goodreault on INS All-America

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

Selected through a nation-wide poll of experts, two players from Michigan, two from Minnesota and one each from Nebraska, Tennessee, Cornell, Stanford, Pennsylvania, Texas A. & M. and Boston College make up the International News Service All-American football team for 1940.

Here it is:

ENDS—Ed Frutig, Michigan, and GENE GOODREAULT, B. C.

TACKLES—Urban Odson, Minnesota, and Nick Drahos, Cornell.

GUARDS—Bob Suffridge, Tennessee, and Warren Alfson, Nebraska.

CENTER—Ray Frick, Penn.

QUARTERBACK—Frank Albert, Stanford.

HALFBACKS—Tom Harmon, Michigan,and George Franck, Minnesota.

FULLBACK—John Kimbrough, Texas A. and M.

All of the players are seniors, except Odson and Albert, both juniors, while four members of this year's team have been selected for the second time.

As junior, Suffridge, Drahos, Harmon and Kimbrough were voted in last year, when they also were among those who dominated big black headlines.

TWO UNANIMOUS

In the 1940 selections, Harmon and Kimbrough were unanimous choices, just as they are virtually certain to be picked unanimously on all of this year's crop of mythical elevens.

The second team of 1940 includes one player who was named in 1939—Paul Christman, Missouri's pass-throwing sensation, who received several first place ballots and still more for the second team, which follows:

ENDS — Paul Severin, North Carolina, and Dave Rankin, Purdue.

TACKLES—Alf Bauman, Northwestern, and Robert Reinhard, California.

CENTER—Rudy Mucha, Washington.

BACKS — Christman, Charlie O'Rourke, Boston College; Francis Reagan, Penn, and Bob Foxx, Tennessee.

Of the foregoing, Reagan, Mucha and O'Rourke—besides Christman—were strong first team candidates.

As usual and as it nearly always will be, the backs took the big play through the past campaign, but in the march of several notable teams the linemen conspicuously carved out their places in this year's football hall of fame.

ALL TOP ELEVENS

The first team is made up of the top hands of the nation's top elevens. Minnesota, Tennessee, Boston College and Stanford are unbeaten, although the latter three have a game yet to go. Michigan and Nebraska lost only to Minnesota.

Cornell lost two games by an aggregate margin of five points. Penn lost only to Michigan and was tied by Harvard. Texas A. and M. lost only to Texas, in that upset of Turkey Day.

Out of all the drama and thrills and excitement of those campaigns emerged the stars who have been selected above all the others as this year's best.

ARMY OFF FOR GAME

Behind Goal Posts

These ends could race down the field under punts to nail the safety man in his tracks, knife through interference and ground the ball carrier on an end run, and snare touchdown passes . . . Michigan's Oosterbaan, gangling blond Swede who was the target for Benny Friedman's passes in '26 . . . Paul Robeson, 1918 Rutgers All-America, an artist on the football field as well as in the world's famous concert halls where his Negro bass has thrilled thousands . . . Charlie Berry Lafayette All-America in '24 and an American League baseball catcher of high merit for several years . . . Ohio State's Wes Fesler, All-America in '28, '29 and '30 . . . remarkably versatile, Wes was a dangerous ball carrier and a bearcat on the defense.

NO. 10

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest, is to select winners of 17 collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Certainly the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except that for which you predict a tie score. Write winners and losers average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then dividing the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Facsimiles of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entry contains all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores on the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for fifth prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

30 ADDITIONAL PRIZES

30 games of "Hit That Line," newest craze on the entertainment horizon, will be awarded, one each, to the 30 runners-up to the cash prize winners. "Hit That Line" is played according to the general rules of football.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Monday, nine days after the game. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1897, Boston, Mass. In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be omitted from the contest, in the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

HARMONIZING—Tom Harmon, right, Michigan's All-America halfback, makes his professional debut on Eddie Cantor's program by harmonizing with Cantor in one of Michigan's songs. Harmon, who has been a star pupil in Michigan's radio school, demonstrated his talents as announcer and commentator, which cover his post college ambitions in radio. The fee Harmon receives from Cantor may be construed as ending his amateur status, eliminating any basketball or baseball he might have played before he is graduated next spring.

Everett State Champ If It Defeats Chelsea

By SAL BROGNA

What appeared to be almost an impossibility two days ago, is practically a reality today along the snow-covered schoolboy grid front in the wild scramble for the Eastern Massachusetts state title.

Everett, the school which had the longest shot of the quartet of teams battling in not only their traditional Thanksgiving Day games, but also what turned out to be important meetings to uncover a new schoolboy champion, is in the driver's seat today.

LEADERS FAIL

For, while the Big Red was sitting out yesterday, their game with Chelsea called off but will be played Sunday afternoon, Peabody and the two Lynn teams, English and Classical faded out of the title picture. That is, temporarily or until the Chelsea-Everett clash.

Peabody, the logical favorite to annex top honors, went down to an unexpected 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of the fighting Gloucester high fishermen. And at the Manning Bowl with more than 15,000 fans in attendance, Classical and English battled to a 6 to 6 deadlock.

According to the grid experts, should Everett win over Chelsea Sunday, it will automatically step in to claim the Eastern Mass. honors.

WITHIN LAST 3 MINUTES

Of the many upsets turned in on snow-covered wind-swept gridirons throughout the State, Peabody's loss to Gloucester was the least expected. True, the fishermen had improved immensely but it was hardly figured that they could accomplish what Classical, English and seven others were unable to do.

Bill Cox, left halfback and passing wizard of Gloucester, fired the pass that spelled defeat for the Tanners.

Lynn English, sparked by the play of Alan Delaney, the player who has been the center of age eligibility argument the past few years but was reinstated late Wednesday, also came with a rush in the closing stages with the touchdown that saved it from defeat.

Delaney snatched Norman Ely's pass for the tally.

LATIN UPSET ENGLISH

Public Latin and Medford were two other schools which entered their respective games as the underdog yet, upset the dope. The Purple knocked their traditional rivals English out of the undefeated class among the city schools it has held for three years with a thrilling 19 to 12 win before 12,000, the smallest turnout for a number of years.

It was the first time since 1936 that a Latin team has been able to turn the trick.

The Medford Mustangs, climaxed one of their poorest seasons so far as games won and lost is concerned but finished in a blaze of glory with a 14 to 6 win over Malden, their most bitter rivals. In winning, Coach Tom O'Connor's boys were forced to come from behind in the fourth quarter with both touchdowns.

The last time Medford finished in front of the Golden Tornado was 1928.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

CHARLEY O'ROURKE, with No. 13 on his back, will make his last Boston appearance for a Boston College football team when he faces Holy Cross at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon. O'Rourke has made No. 13 as famous for Boston College as Red Grange did No. 77 at Illinois, and Tom Harmon No. 98 at Michigan.

Illinois preserved Grange's No. 77, while Michigan took similar action in regard to Harmon's No. 98.

These colleges felt that Grange and Harmon were entitled to special recognition, while they also did not wish to give some youthful player the task of trying to live up to the fame and traditions which went with these famous numbers.

Leo Fitzgerald, a member of the committee that is staging the testimonial dinner to O'Rourke in the Malden Armory on next Tuesday night, tells me that Boston College will be petitioned to set O'Rourke's famous No. 13 aside.

"We feel that Charley O'Rourke should be given this special distinction for the glory that he has brought to Boston College," said Fitzgerald.

I think it is a grand idea. I would like to see the Boston College Athletic Department under John Curley act on this idea at once so that it can be announced at the O'Rourke dinner that the famous star's alma mater has paid him this special honor.

I look for the dinner to Charley O'Rourke to be one of the grandest affairs of its kind ever held. I know that in tomorrow's game O'Rourke will add to his magnificent record as a football player, and make a Boston College victory possible.

After tomorrow, O'Rourke will play one more game for the Eagles. It will be in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans when on New Year's Day Boston College will have Tennessee as an opponent. Frank Leahy will not permit himself to think of the Sugar Bowl game until after his eleven wins from Holy Cross.

The Boston College eleven will leave for New Orleans 10 days before the contest so that it will be able to engage in ample practice on the scene of the contest.

In an off-guarded moment Frank Leahy told me of his plans for an early departure to New Orleans. I do not believe Leahy has any serious doubts about the ability of his club to defeat Holy Cross, and then go to the Sugar Bowl.

Magic Shops and Christmas Windows

I FOUND MYSELF looking into the windows of downtown stores that were loaded with things for Christmas. As a rule, I seldom stop to do window shopping, but at this time of the year there is something about the display of possible gifts and the bright colors that attract me.

When I look at a window with a Christmas display I always can think of someone to whom the various articles of merchandise would be particularly acceptable. The great joy in Christmas is in giving.

I wandered through some of the stores, and, of course, ended up in the toy departments. At this time of the year the toy departments look like magic cities.

Walking through the stores, the various articles looked so bright and clean that I was sure Santa Claus had just left them there. I decided to do my Christmas shopping at once to get a better selection of things and to avoid the frantic crowds that one will experience later.

I shall get as much fun out of picking out my Christmas purchases as I shall have watching the Boston College-Holy Cross game tomorrow. I shall bring Mrs. Boston and some of the little Bostons along with me as they are certain to have plenty of ideas of what will make the best Christmas gifts. I'll be seeing you in the toy department in the section where they have those new electric trains.

Items From My Private Notebook

AL MARSTERS, who used to play in the Dartmouth backfield, is connected with the legal department of a Southbridge concern . . . Al takes some time out to officiate at football games . . . In the talk of Harvard's victory over Yale and the Boston College-Holy Cross game, Pat Hanley's fine showing with Boston University has been overlooked . . . Boston University won five and lost three games . . . It set a record with 160 points . . . Pat says his team also set another record when it missed 11 out of the last 14 tries for the point after touchdown.

Boston University was obliged to overcome early season injuries to go on to its share of victories.

Pat Foley received a bad cut in the lip in the first round in his recent bout in Chicago which is why the bout was stopped, according to Johnny Buckley . . . Foley returned to Worcester for the holiday . . . The injury will keep Pat idle for two or three weeks.

up many memory gems like Johnny Frietas' 50-yard pass to Ed Furbush to bring an underrated B. C. team home, 13-9. Or that charity game in the Harvard stadium when H. C. as the lesser party, won 7-0 on Chil O'Connell's 56-yard run. And that 13-0 surprise by B. C. in Gil Dobie's freshman year. And . . .

It would be a great calamity for B. C. to lose this one. All New England, except that immediate portion around Worcester and local H. C. alumni centers, wants it to come through unmirched and furnish this fun center free advertising in some New Year's Bowl. It has a blank check for $75,000 in its pocket and all that is required is a purple ink endorsement.

FAIR RAIN SNOW CLOUDY

Oh, Santa

Roberta Rose, 4, of Medford, finds just the dolly that she wants Santa Claus to bring her . . . with lots of other nice things. With today a school holiday, stores were crowded with children.

Shy Shopper—Little Judith Benson, 3, of Braintree is just a little shy as she makes the rounds of Christmas shopping . . . and she isn't too particular. Everything's wonderful.

Skates

Hoping this is no tip-off, but Lillian Priestley has decided on skates for her sister this Christmas. Somewhere else, sister is buying her a present . . . but it's a secret.
